GREAT LIQUOR SEIZURE IS MADE IN VANCOUVER

A. E. Suckling Arrested When Police Raid Premises of Nastillers Limited and Take $1,500,000 Worth of Whisky and Beer.

Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Whisky and beer to the value of approximately $1,500,000 was seized and one man was arrested when a large squad from city police headquarters raided the premises of Nastillers Limited at 1394 Richards Street, early this afternoon.

A. E. Suckling was placed under arrest on charges of selling liquor and keeping liquor for sale.

The raid was conducted under the personal direction of Chief W. J. Bligh.

Suckling will appear in police court Saturday morning.

Coincidentally with the raid on Nastillers Limited three other men were detained for investigation—C. Brandolini and G. Brandolini, 507 Prior Street, and Frank Sanderson, 876 Granville Street.

Police state a considerable amount of liquor allegedly belonging to three men was seized.

MAN TRYING TO BREAK INTO LONDON PALACE ARRESTED

London, Aug. 30.—Shortly after daybreak this morning a sharp-eyed London policeman captured a man who was trying to break into Buckingham Palace at the diplomats' entrance. No member of the royal family was in the palace.

$50,000 FIRE IN TOWN IN SASKATCHEWAN

Melville, Sask., Aug. 30.—Practically the whole of Railway Street was swept by fire at Goodview, Sask., twenty-five miles west of here, on the main line of the Canadian National Railway, when a fire of unknown origin destroyed nine buildings yesterday morning.

REPARATIONS PACT SIGNED AT HAGUE TO-DAY

Final Session of the Nations' Conference Is Set For Noon To-morrow

The Hague, Aug. 30.—Letters and documents recording the agreement of Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany on evacuation of the Rhineland and financial questions incident to acceptance of the Young reparations plan were signed at 12.15 p.m. to-day by representatives of those nations. The protocol and other documents in which will be registered the results of The Hague conference will be ready for approval this evening and the conference about noon to-morrow will adjourn sine die.

Several matters will be left to future action either by another government conference or by individual action of the governments concerned. Among these are the proposed international bank of settlement, the reparations problem as it affects the successors to the Austro-Hungarian Empire and the final accounting between the former enemies for private property sequestered and sold.

NO COMMENT ON LABRADOR SALE

Sir Richard Squires Fails to Clear Up Position of Joseph de Champlain

Montreal, Aug. 30.—Sir Richard Squires, Premier of Newfoundland, left here for New York last night without further commenting on the controversy aroused by announcement a few days ago by Joseph de Champlain that he was en route to Ottawa with authority to sell Labrador, now owned by Newfoundland. The question was further involved by the announcement that the claim of Rev. Isaac de la Penha, Minister of the Spanish-Portuguese Communities of Montreal to some $80,000,000 worth of Labrador had been so well established that the matter was soon to be placed before the Privy Council.

$200 MOTOR CAR TO MAKE WALKING A LUXURY SOON

The story of the invention and production of the $200 automobile, which will be marketed on this continent in the next few months, will be one of the feature articles of the Magazine Section of The Victoria Times to-morrow.

The new baby car, which will run almost indefinitely it seems on a gallon of gasoline and will make walking an expensive luxury because of shoe wear, is the brain child of James V. Martin, world-wide inventor, who produced the Melsin bombers used during the war.

"What this country needs is more parking space," said Mr. Martin. Among the other features in the Magazine Section of the Saturday Times are:

BRITAIN SEEKS TO SPEED UP RATIFICATIONS

Will Raise Question at Meeting of League, Hugh Dalton Tells Council

Prince Ali Peroughi of Persia Presides Over Sessions Of Council

Geneva, Aug. 30.—The fifty-sixth session of the Council of the League of Nations—a session immediately preceding the meeting of the Assembly of the League—convened to-day privately with Prince Ali Peroughi of Persia presiding. It will sit from time to time during the Assembly and treat with current questions.

RATIFICATION QUESTION
Geneva, Aug. 30.—(By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The British Labor Government showed its hand almost immediately after the opening of the fifty-sixth session of the Council of the League of Nations here to-day.

The Council had wandered through a report on "The Unification of the Formulae Respecting Narcotic Drugs" and was drifting through a report on the ratification of agreements when Hugh Dalton, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, substituting for his chief, Right Hon. Arthur Henderson, suddenly announced Great Britain intended to raise the whole question of ratifications at the forthcoming meeting of the Assembly of the League.

DECLARED IMPORTANT
"The British Government," Dalton declared, "attaches very great importance to the question of ratification in the Assembly we propose to raise this question, hoping to count upon the co-operation of the members of the League in speeding up the ratification of all agreements and in securing that the signatures shall be a reality and not merely a device for seeming support of propositions advanced here which may not necessarily be followed up when the delegations return to their own states."

HON. J. H. KING IS TO VISIT B.C.
Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Hon. J. H. King, British Columbia member of the Federal Cabinet, is expected to arrive in Vancouver early next week. He will remain in the Province for about a month, acquainting himself with questions affecting Federal jurisdiction here.

KEATING WINS WRIGLEY SWIM AT TORONTO

New Yorker Beats Ernst Vierkoetter of Germany In Final Dash

George Young, Toronto, and Mrs. Armstrong, Detroit, Dropped Out of Race

Lakefront, Toronto, Aug. 31.—Edward F. Keating of New York won the fifteen-mile swim here this afternoon.

Lakefront, Toronto, Aug. 31.—Edward F. Keating of New York led Ernst Vierkoetter of Cologne, Germany, by about 375 yards when the two leaders entered the stretch to go up to the finish line of today's fifteen-mile championship swim.

Lakefront, Toronto, Aug. 30.—Edward F. Keating of New York swept into the lead in the Wrighley fifteen-mile marathon swim on the seventh lap to-day. With about three-quarters of the lap completed Keating spurred past the leader, Norman Ross of Chicago, and took a five-yard lead. The finish line was only about two and a half miles away.

C. A. ROSS OUT
Clarence A. Ross of Brooklyn, N.Y., who led for half the distance to-day, left the water at 4.10 p.m. to-day when he signalled to be taken out. He was in third place.

Ernst Vierkoetter of Cologne, winner of the 1927 Wrighley marathon, was fourth. When Clarence Ross gave up, Isador Sponder, a dark horse from Port Colborne, Ont., moved into fifth place, with Mendel Burdett of Toronto and Lyle S. Hubbard of Toledo, Ohio, sixth and seventh, respectively.

There were only forty-two in the water five hours and ten minutes after the race began and the majority of them had been lapped by the leader.

SIX PRIZES
There will be six prizes, and consequently more than 270 "also swam." The first will receive $25,000 and the next five will receive $5,000, $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000, respectively.

MRS. ARMSTRONG FAILS
Lakefront, Toronto, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Evelyn Armstrong of Detroit, one of the two women entrants in the Wrighley-Canadian National Exhibition swim, was taken out of the water this afternoon. She was "frozen-up" and had cramps. She walked unaided to the Red Cross station.

Lakefront, Toronto, Aug. 30.—(Canadian Press)—After setting the pace for more than seven and a half miles, Clarence A. Ross of Brooklyn, N.Y., surrendered first place in the Wrighley-Canadian National Exhibition fifteen-mile swimming race to his namesake, Norman Ross of Chicago, on the fifth lap this afternoon.

FLIERS OF GRAF GREETED TO-DAY IN NEW YORK

Eckener and Crew Members Centre of Formal Ceremony of Welcome

New York, Aug. 30.—This city flung wide its gates to-day and welcomed Commander Hugo Eckener and officers and members of the crew of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin on their return from man's fastest trip around the world.

An official municipal welcome afforded an opportunity for citizens to shout themselves hoarse acclaiming the German aeronauts, whose exploit has captured the imagination and admiration of the world.

Dr. Eckener yesterday paid his respects to President Herbert Hoover at Washington, and heard from him words of congratulation on behalf of the people of the United States.

Police Commissioner Whelan, as chairman of Mayor Walker's welcoming committee, had the New York City tug Macon pick up Commander Eckener and his party after their plane flight from Washington, and land them at the Battery.

LEGION GREET'S BEST MARKSMAN IN CITY TO-DAY

Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair Welcomed on First Visit Here Since Winning Prize

Lieut.-Colonel R. M. Blair

Lieut.-Col. R. M. ("Bull's-eye") Blair, winner of the King's Prize and grand aggregate award at Bisley, was welcomed to Victoria to-day for the first time since he attained this double distinction.

A delegation from the Canadian Legion greeted the world-famous marksman on his arrival when the Vancouver boat docked.

This evening he will be feted along with Master Gunner H. Collins, Lieutenant D. Pyrie and Sergeant W. H. Regan, the local British Columbia representatives on the Canadian Bisley team.

At this function, which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium at 7.30 o'clock, General Sir Percy Lake will preside. Mayor Anson will represent the city, while Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe will be present on behalf of the Provincial Government.

In addition to these Commander L. W. Murray, R.C.N., Senior Naval Officer, and Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, officer commanding Military District No. 11 will attend the banquet.

This afternoon's function was the first at which a King's Prize winner had been welcomed in Victoria. Col. Blair is the only man who has achieved the distinction of winning this award and the grand aggregate laurels in the same year.

It is expected that a large number of Victorians will attend the banquet this evening. There has been a slight misunderstanding regarding this function. It is a public event sponsored by the Canadian Legion, not a banquet for members of the Legion only. Those who have not secured tickets may do so at the door.

Lieut.-Col. Blair is the second British Columbian to win the King's Prize, but is the first marksman who has ever gained the double distinction at the Bisley meet.

He will be further honored at a garden party at Government house on September 7.

1,500 Arabs Are Dispersed

Jerusalem, Aug. 30.—A Government communiqué to-day said that 1,500 Bedouins who had been massing quietly at Solih, Seventy Arabs were captured at Qalonia after repeated attacks on the Jewish colony at Moltz. The communiqué added strictest moderation in the use of firearms had been urged upon all troops and police.

Transjordan was said to be quiet.

REPULED BY TROOPS
Jerusalem, Aug. 30.—Arabs again to-day attacked the Jewish colony at Telphoth, between Jerusalem and Bethlehem. The attack was repulsed by a platoon of British troops.

Movie Musicians In Chicago to Strike

Chicago, Aug. 30.—A strike order, effective Sunday midnight, to 800 musicians employed in Chicago motion picture houses was issued to-day by James C. Petrillo, president of the Federation of Musicians.

"We are going to stay out until the public demands return to the theatres of real music," he said.

Minister Plans New Road Work

Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works, is in this city to-day discussing lower mainland road matters. Planning of winter work and obtaining of reports on next year's requirements through-out the Province are engaging the Minister's attention for the next month.

DOUKHOBORS MAKE NEW NELSON THREAT

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 30.—Another Doukhobor demonstration was threatened this afternoon when a number of the Sons of Freedom set began to congregate a few miles outside of Nelson and it was feared they might be a repetition of Thursday's trouble when Provincial Police and special constables arrested 150 of the Doukhobors following a nude parade.

The police were experiencing little trouble with the Doukhobors now being held in the city and provincial jail here, a crowd of Doukhobors quietly watching outside.

News of the threat of another Doukhobor outbreak at Nelson to-day came while Attorney-General Pooley was awaiting the outcome of a move designed to end all such disturbances in the Doukhobor community in British Columbia, both the regular old-line section and the extremist wing.

The Attorney-General hopes the discussion will lead to an announcement to-morrow that will mean lasting peace for the districts where disorders have occurred.

The Doukhobors who were arrested yesterday had been camped for some days at South Slovan, thirteen miles from Nelson.

Lady Heath Is Recovering Say Her Doctors

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 30.—Lady Mary Heath, noted British aviatrix, recovered consciousness to-day after an operation last night for a fracture of the skull and other injuries received when she crashed in her plane here through the roof of a factory.

CANADA NEAR TOP IN WORLD'S AVIATION LIST

Washington, Aug. 30.—United States leads in civil air transportation so far as mail carried and the number of miles flown are concerned, but Germany is ahead of the rest of the world in miles of airways in operation, number of passengers carried, in commercial mileage per plane and also in pounds of express and freight carried.

Canada comes second in number of passengers carried with 74,689 and is third in express and freight. The figures are for 1928.

BRITISH TROOPS ARE SOON TO LEAVE THE RHINELAND

London, Aug. 30.—The British War Office issued orders this afternoon for withdrawal of British troops from the Rhineland beginning September 14. The British evacuation will be spread over three months, thus making it probable the last British soldier will be out of the Rhineland by New Year's Day, if not by Christmas.

PLANE CRASH SAVES MOTHER OF LINDBERGH

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 30.—A head-on collision of two aeroplanes at the National Air Races here to-day was averted because the pilot of one of the planes preferred to crash to the ground to avoid the collision.

Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh was an occupant in the plane that escaped. She was coming here to meet her son, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The plane that fell was piloted by William Goss and carried Howard Mays, both of whom came from Charleston, South Carolina.

DISASTER IN SPAIN TAKES HEAVY TOLL

Algeiras, Aug. 30.—An unknown number of persons were buried early to-day in the crash of an old building on the waterfront here, some estimates placing the number of victims at between fifty-nine and seventy. The building sheltered about thirty families. It suddenly crumbled and the inhabitants, most of them still in their beds, were caught in the ruins. There were eighteen children in the structure. Two hours after the collapse five persons had been taken out.

SAANICH HEALTH CONTROL SYSTEM HIGHLY PRAISED

Special Investigator of Rockefeller Foundation Gives Complimentary Report

The Rockefeller Foundation is well pleased with the operation of the Saanich War Memorial Health Centre in Saanich. A letter to this effect was before the Health Centre Committee at its meeting on Wednesday evening, the interest of the Rockefeller Foundation being due to the fact that an annual grant of $4,000 has been given Saanich for promotion of public health affairs.

While this grant was originally accorded for a term of three years, of which the second year is now approaching completion, the Foundation gave no intimation that the original intention of making the 1930 contribution the final payment would be adhered to.

The work in Saanich was thoroughly examined and highly praised in July by a special representative of the Rockefeller Foundation. It is hoped by members of the Health Centre committee that the grant will be continued indefinitely, in view of the notable improvement in public health, despite lack of sewers and sporadic appearance in nearby districts of such diseases as smallpox and scarlet fever.

The staff of the Health Centre was restored to four nurses by addition of Miss Henderson, who was a student nurse at the centre earlier in the year.

War Veterans In U.S. Seek Vote On Liquor Law

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 30.—At the most fiery session of its thirtieth annual encampment, the Veterans of Foreign Wars to-day went on record favoring a national referendum on the Eighteenth Amendment after tabling a resolution asking for an out-and-out repeal of the dry constitutional amendment.

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—Rescue of thirty-one persons by the tanker Dodd, and eleven survivors by the United States coastguard cutter Shawnee left sixty-eight persons missing and believed to have been drowned in the sinking of the steamer San Juan off the California coast thirty miles south of here last midnight.

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—Probably sixty-eight persons perished early this morning with the sinking of the coastwise passenger steamship San Juan off the California shore thirty miles south of here.

The San Juan went down about five minutes after colliding in the fog with the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd at midnight off Pigeon Point. Although one side of the Dodd was stove in, the crew lowered boats and went to the rescue of the 110 persons who were thrown into the sea as the San Juan sank.

Another ship, the Munam, turned from her course nearby and aided in the rescue work. Some hours later the Dodd was on its way to San Francisco with thirty-one survivors, some of them seriously injured and in need of medical attention. The Munam had taken ten others aboard and was standing by, looking for those who might have remained afloat after the sinking.

Radio accounts of the severe disaster, however, that the chances for many of the sixty-eight persons unaccounted for were slim, due to the speed with which the San Juan sank and the fact that darkness and confusion handicapped the rescue workers.

Cries of passengers pierced the darkness as the ship sank. Radio messages describing the sinking said passengers and crew were hurled into a westward-strewn vortex. Lights from the Dodd and the Munam swept the surface of the water, aiding crews in small boats. Thick fog hampered their efforts, however.

The Dodd at first was reported to be in a sinking condition, but later wireless reports said she was not damaged enough to be in danger and that members of her crew had taken to lifeboats to rescue work instead of to abandon the oil tanker, as was originally thought.

63 PASSENGERS ABOARD
The San Juan left San Francisco at 7 o'clock last night for Los Angeles with sixty-five passengers and a crew of forty-five aboard. The San Juan was an old vessel of about 3,600 tons. She was operated by the Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation Company and featured low rates between the two cities.

The Dodd is a 7,000-ton ship. She was damaged but little in the collision.

SEARCH CONTINUES
Radio stations here reported the Munam had renewed its search of the wreckage-strewn collision area at daybreak, but that up to 8 a.m. it had not reported picking up any additional persons.

These advices, coming eight hours after the San Juan had sunk, led to the belief that few if any of the sixty-eight missing would be found alive, although the Munam's crew refused to give up the search.

A list of passengers made public here by C. C. Nichols, an officer of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation Company, owners of the San Juan, was as follows:

Captain A. F. Asplund; C. Tully, chief officer; A. Olson, second officer; R. Pappeus; third officer, Jack Cleveland; purser and chief steward, James Norton; chief engineer; M. Apple, first assistant engineer; John Lewis, second assistant engineer; H. Dawes and C. Paulson, radio operators; Seamen: William G. Galtney, Mike Constantine, George Constantine, A. Kowis, F. A. CLAY-WORKING INDUSTRIES

The clay-working industries in Canada are engaged chiefly in the manufacture of heavy clay products such as brick, structural tile, drain tile, and salt-glazed ware such as sewer pipe. Surface clays of glacial origin, which are widespread over the country, are used at most of the plants; but shales from several geological horizons are also employed to a considerable extent.

BEAUTY OF EMERALD LAKE

The beauty of Emerald Lake in Yoho National Park, British Columbia, lies in the peculiar coloring of its waters and the charm of its thickly wooded shores. Its waters are of a prevailing emerald in color, and in their crystalline depths it is said one may count twenty shades of green at one time but never one of blue. A complete border of jade green forest adds to the loveliness of the scene.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, August 30, 1904

At a well-attended meeting of the Labor Day parade committee, held last evening, final arrangements were made for the forthcoming celebration.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light to moderate winds, generally fair, not much change in temperature.

Business of only a routine character was transacted at last evening's weekly meeting of the City Council.

Teachers and pupils of the Victoria High School resumed their labors yesterday. There was a total attendance of 210, which is thirty-five more than the commencement of last term.

Workmen are making good progress with operations on Government Street, from Courtney to Humboldt, preliminary to paving it.

An attempt has been made to have Cadboro Bay Road widened from the junction of Yates Street to the corner of Stanley Avenue.

Children's Day in connection with the Victoria exhibition will be on Friday, September 30, and if all the arrangements being considered by the committee in charge are carried through successfully, those attending the public schools will be given a thoroughly enjoyable time.

Preparations for the entertainment of Lord Minto, Governor-General of Canada, during his farewell visit to Victoria are being considered by Mayor Barnard and the City Council.

THE REAL TROUBLE

To the Editor: Now that the great and only Bennett has left B.C., after making converts to his party—maybe—I thought I would give you the views of some of the fruitgrowers and the Dumping Act that our Tory friends are continually harping on. A short time ago I was in Saskatoon, and while waiting in the station for the train I go into conversation with a party where the receipts run into many millions. At a meeting in Vernon last spring of the growers, one grower, Mr. Howe, stated that he had shipped 40,000 boxes of apples last season on which he paid $20,000 freight, fifty cents a box. The railways could easily have given him a thirty-cent rate. It just amounts to this: The Dumping Act would not amount to anything if the railways would give the fruit-growers in B.C. a fifty per cent reduction in their rates, if only for one season. This would give the growers a chance to get straightened up. The railways would hardly notice the reductions in their many millions of receipts.

SHEEP RANCHING EXPANDING

The sheep industry from a ranching point of view shows signs of development in Western Canada, particularly in British Columbia, states the Department of Agriculture. Last fall upwards of 10,000 head of ewe stock were bought in Alberta and shipped to the interior points of British Columbia. In 1928 the demand for range ewes exceeded the supply and the demand promises to be equally as good this year.

LABOR CONGRESS HEARS TROUBLES OF BUILDERS

Canadian Trades Convention At St. John Told of Investigation in Ontario

St. John, N.B., Aug. 30.—A statement on the Amalgamated Builders' Council situation, now under investigation at Windsor, Ont., was made before the Trades and Labor Congress here today by J. W. Bruce, representative of the International Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters. He declared his association had acted in good faith and in the belief the agreements were good in law.

The agreements, Mr. Bruce contended, recognized the union's desire for establishment of an absolute union shop, bringing improved working conditions and better wages. He had endorsed the agreements, as the union representative, after they had been concurred in by the general officers.

TORONTO STRIKE RECALLED
Union officials, said Mr. Bruce, were surprised when Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, ordered an investigation into the Amalgamated Builders' Council, especially in view of the serious situation which occurred in Toronto in May when the minister's effort to bring about adjustment of a strike, consented to the further registration of a group of employees on the express understanding that "we would make a similar agreement as with the Amalgamated Builders' Council in so far as conditions governing our employees in Toronto were concerned."

"This our organization adopted, believing it was perfectly legal, having had the approval of the Minister of Labor," said Mr. Bruce.

CRITICIZES COMMISSIONER
Referring to the declarations of Royal Commissioner Waldron, Mr. Bruce said he wished to protest against "the scathing denunciation of the labor movement on the validity of our agreements and the conduct of our officers in carrying out the terms of the same."

Mr. Bruce charged Commissioner Waldron with creating the impression by innuendo and declaration that an outrageous, irresponsible organization existed, contrary to law, and was practicing unfair methods, to the detriment of the public.

"This, in so far as we are concerned, we absolutely deny, and wish to inform this convention that we are determined to carry out our agreement in the same manner as we have always done and in the accepted spirit of the labor movement," said Mr. Bruce.

Charles D. Stimson Of Seattle Dies

Seattle, Aug. 30.—Succumbing to a heart attack brought on by acute indigestion a week ago, Charles D. Stimson, Seattle lumberman and state leader, died here at his home in the Highlands late last night. His family was at his bedside when death came. He was born in Big Rapids, Mich., in 1857. After attending schools in Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin, he organized in 1880 the lumberman's securing firm of C. D. Stimson & Company in Big Rapids. He came to Seattle in 1889 and formed the Stimson Mill Company a year later. He was president from 1892 until his death.

Tension prevailed in Jerusalem today owing to apprehension of renewed trouble from Moslems should emerge from the mosque, this being the Sabbath day. Practically every shop was closed. Strong military pickets had been posted at strategic points.

FIVE JEWS KILLED
Jerusalem, Aug. 30.—Five Jews were killed last night and twenty wounded when Arabs attacked houses of the Jewish community in the ancient town of Safed. Arabs set fire to buildings on the main Jewish street, where oil was stored. Troops finally quelled the trouble.

ARAB MOVEMENT GROWS
Beirut, Aug. 30.—The troubles in Palestine have roused Arab feelings throughout the Near East, the "Arab" assuming the character of a movement for the unity of Arab countries. Demonstrations have been held in many parts of Syria, while equal excitement prevails in Transjordan. The Sultan Al-Faisal, chief of the Druse tribesmen, is reported to be gathering his forces for an invasion of Palestine.

REPORT DENIED
London, Aug. 30.—The British Colonial Office today declared reports that the United States consul-general at Jerusalem had advised United States citizens to leave the interior for the coast of Palestine for possible departure aboard a ship had been "categorically denied" by the consul-general himself.

NEW YORKER LEADING IN WRIGLEY SWIM

YOUNG DROPS OUT
George Young of Toronto, winner of the 1928 Catalina Channel swim, headed for the pier at the end of the third lap and was hauled from the water. Young was given first aid and appeared to be in a daze. He appeared to be swimming strongly when he struck out for the pier, where he hung on until pulled out. He was in fourth place.

The announcement that Young was out came like a bolt from the blue to his backers, including Teddy Oke, Toronto millionaire, who together with others accompanied Young in a rowboat, shouting frantically at the Toronto swimmer as he stroked towards the pier. He had been in the water about 2 hours and 50 minutes.

Wrapped in a blanket on the breakwater, Young was quite conscious as he was given treatment. He was taken to the hospital at the National Yacht Club. Asked why Young had left the water, Oke replied:

"He just quit."

Young, who became famous in 1926 when he was the only swimmer to finish the Catalina Channel marathon, has started three times in the Wrighley marathons since, but always has left the water midway through the race.

OFF WITH A SPLASH
Toronto, Aug. 30.—With one mighty splash, 237 entrants leaped into Lake Ontario at 11:08 and began the long, gruelling struggle in the Wrighley fifteen-mile marathon today.

The start was made under favorable weather conditions. The official temperature, reported earlier in the morning, had set the mark at 59 degrees out in the lake and sixty inside the breakwater.

Three hundred yards in front of his nearest rival, Clarence A. Ross of Brooklyn, N.Y., was leading the pack at the end of the first lap.

In second place was Lyle S. Hubbard of Toledo, Ohio, who was ten yards ahead of Norman Ross of Chicago.

Two women starters occupied nineteenth and twentieth places. Mrs. Evelyn Armstrong, Detroit, being a few yards ahead of Ruth Tower of Toronto.

The first casualty of the swim came less than 100 yards from the start. Gordon Lowery of Newark, N.J., was knocked in the shoulder immediately after the plunge, and, trying gamely for a short distance, was forced to retire owing to pain.

BLIND SWIMMER ENTERS
Checking officials announced that Michael Hamburg, blind swimmer from Toronto, had reported at the starting float and that the two hundred and thirty-eight swimmer to start.

Nearing the three-mile mark, Clarence Ross was stroking fifty-eight to the minute. He was maintaining his 300-yard advantage over Hubbard, Norman Ross and Summers.

The official times of the leaders for the first lap were: Clarence Ross, 55:10; Lyle Hubbard, Toledo, 55:10; Norman Ross, Chicago, 55:20; Byron Summers, Los Angeles, 55:40; Harold Florence, Brooklyn, 55:50; John W. Mahon, New London, Conn., 56:05; Marvin Nelson, Toronto, 57:00; Ernest Vieroetter, Toronto, 57:05; Alfred Bully, Toronto, 57:50.

REPARATIONS PACT IS SIGNED AT THE HAGUE

OFFICIALS TO ACT
These matters will be handled through the various chancelleries as far as possible and will be liquidated finally when the parties to the Hague conference meet again to ratify the Young plan and complete organization work of the bank.

PRIZE FOR SNOWDEN
London, Aug. 30.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The seal of success put on the Hague reparations conference, by Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, was the award of a summary of the conference by Reuters, in the character of a modern David, met and slew Goliath.

The summary says that when champion arose to defend the national cause, the Scriptural dictum about a prophet being without honor in his own country was for once disproved. Thus the champion should belong to a party which sometimes is accused of being more international than national only heightened the nation-wide applause.

In an interview at The Hague, Mr. Snowden said: "If England is pleased, so am I. I set myself a task that was not easy. Without the help of my wife, I could never have accomplished it."

B.C. LEADERS WILL SHARE IN PACIFIC TRADE CONFERENCE.

A. F. Haines vice-president and manager of the American Mail Line, is acting head of the Council as senior vice-president, filling out the unpierced term of the late William Pigott. He points out this organization fills a specific need of the west by affording the only opportunity for Pacific Coast foreign trade interests to get together and discuss the problems of this section in relation to the whole scheme of commercial enterprise.

The object is not to develop unnecessary competition or to take away any part of the trade now enjoyed by others, but to stimulate commerce by all available means—in extending foreign markets for Pacific Coast products as well as in developing trade and industry through the use of improved methods.

BODIES AFFILIATED
The Pacific Foreign Trade Council functions through the commercial organizations of the Pacific Coast, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, the Vancouver Board of Trade being a part of this affiliation. Registrations may be made through these organizations, for the coming convention or they may be sent direct to the Council headquarters in the Seattle Chamber of Commerce Building, Seattle.

FORTY-TWO RESCUED AT SEA OFF CALIFORNIA

Juan, contained only thirty-eight names. Nichols explained, however, that the list was incomplete due to the fact that those who had bought tickets at the last minute were not represented.

Captain Asplund, who was reported in radio messages to have gone down with the San Juan, was acting master of the stricken ship during a leave of absence granted to his regular master, Captain George Winkel, it was learned from the marine department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

The San Juan, a double-decker of iron construction, 225 feet long and of 3,500 tons, had sailed the seas for forty-seven years. She was one of the oldest ships on the Pacific, having first taken to the water shortly after the disappearance of the swift packets that carried the frontiers of trade to the Pacific Coast.

After a short period of service with the Pacific Mail Steamship Line in the South American trade, the San Juan was sold to the James K. Nelson Company, and soon thereafter became the property of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation Company.

Aboard Ss. Munami off Pigeon Point, Cal., Aug. 30.—Ten survivors of the passenger steamer San Juan were following a night of desperate effort to save the lives of those who were cast into the ocean after its collision with the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd shortly before midnight.

"The distress signals following the collision between the vessels was heard by our radio operator at 11:55 p.m.," said Capt. Gus Illig. "We were just three miles away from the San Juan. In response to the signals we proceeded with all possible speed to the scene of the collision."

"As the Munami pierced through the fog to the scene we found the San Juan sinking."

"We drifted in wreckage of the steamer for two hours. It was difficult to pull lifeboats through it. Oil from the lost ship coated the water and added to the rescue difficulties."

"Lifeboats of the Munami were in the water at 12:30 a.m. and darted about as best they could in response to cries of passengers and of the crew struggling in the water and wreckage."

LIST OF RESCUED.
The complete list of the survivors of the wreck rescued by the Munami is: Mr. and Mrs. Felloz, Los Angeles; Rosa Perez Rubio, 1136 Church Street, San Francisco; Harry Wade, Lee Leathers, Alex Cowie, W. H. Jano, V. Garcia, James Gallager and J. K. Hamilton.

ABOARD CUTTER
San Francisco, Aug. 30.—A radio message received by the McCormick Steamship Lines from the steamer Munami had transferred ten survivors of the sunken steamer San Juan to the States coastguard cutter Shawnee, and that the Shawnee was proceeding to its wharf in San Francisco Bay. No reason for the transfer of the passengers was given.

SURVIVORS INJURED
San Francisco, Aug. 30.—The United States coastguard station here received a wireless report from the coastguard cutter Shawnee, proceeding to this port with ten survivors of the sunken steamer San Juan stating three of the survivors were suffering from serious injuries. The message asked arrangements be made at the coastguard wharf to rush the injured to hospitals on the arrival of the cutter at 11 o'clock.

SAN JUAN LOSS WORST OF MANY YEARS OFF COAST

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—The sinking of the steamer San Juan off Pigeon Point, California, this morning was the worst sea tragedy on this section of the Pacific Coast since February 22, 1901, when the Rio de Janeiro went down near the entrance to San Francisco harbor with a loss of 128 lives.

Independence, burned off Lower California, February 19, 1923, 140 lives lost. Pacific, vanished at sea, September 23, 1895, 240 lives lost.

Bennington, United States gunboat, exploded at San Diego, July 21, 1905, 85 lost.

Valencia, sank off Vancouver Island, January 22, 1906, 129 lost.

Columbia and San Pedro collided off California coast July 20, 1907, 100 lives lost.

from Nelson, where they had been stopped on their way to Nelson by Provincial officers. Fanatics from Grand Forks had not yet joined the group when the trouble started.

Six Provincial constables and sixty specially sworn in constables shared in the round up.

It was about 12:30 p.m. that the Doukhobors, members of Sons of Freedom, first gave indications of trouble. Provincial Police were on the job immediately. John Cartmel, Government agent, went straight to the Doukhobors, and arrested four members who had disobeyed early yesterday morning that the police went to South Sloca.

On the appearance of the officers Doukhobors, men, women and children, began disrobing. There were 150 Doukhobors in the party, and fully three-quarters of them took off their clothes and chanted. Mr. Cartmel immediately ordered the Doukhobors to put on their clothes, and gave them thirty minutes to comply with his order.

After a stated time, when no action had been taken by the group, police and special officers went into action.

VEREGIN FAILED
Peter Veregin, who had ordered the Doukhobors from the regular colonies, was present and did all in his power to get them to dress and be orderly. His efforts were in vain, though he used bodily force several times.

Babies carried by the adults were entrusted to the younger members, who showed no signs of disrobing or following their older companions.

Following absolute refusal of the group to don their clothing, the police called for automobiles, trucks and buses, which were rushed to the scene, and men, women and younger members were herded into the them and transported to Nelson. Many were still nude upon arrival, and some even refused to put on their clothing when placed in jail.

After all had been placed in the cells, a truck carried a load of clothing which was dumped in the prison yard. Nelson's two jails, provincial and city, were crowded and there was an overflow of Doukhobors.

A DELICATE SITUATION

WHEN THE GOVERNMENT OF MR. Ramsay MacDonald took office less than three months ago it was hardly to be supposed that it would be called upon to tackle such ticklish problems as those which have engaged its attention in recent weeks. As if the reparations controversy was not enough to keep the Cabinet worried, the Moslems and Jews of Palestine must obtrude their racial and religious differences with a war-like smudge across the near eastern horizon.

This conflict in the Holy Land involves Great Britain in a delicate and difficult situation. Under the mandate which she accepted from the League of Nations, she is responsible for the government, and the maintenance of law and order in Palestine. And her attitude towards that country, particularly in regard to its Jewish population, is clearly expressed in the Balfour declaration of 1917. It is as follows:

His Majesty's Government view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of that object, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country.

After British troops had subdued the Turk and driven him out of the country the way was clear to give effect to the desires of the British Government. It was a foregone conclusion that Great Britain would be entrusted with this mandated territory. She accepted it, moreover, almost wholly as a matter of duty, since it was obvious then—and it is still more obvious now—that at best her reward would be the country's peaceful progress, towards which she would contribute more than she would collect. Of material gain she knew there would be none.

Her maximum reward has been reaped. She now is face to face with a condition which is fraught with serious possibilities. Her undertaking given to the Jewish population, as laid down by Earl Balfour, her acceptance of the mandate from the League of Nations, brings every move she makes now under the scrutiny of the Jews in every country in the world, British and foreign countries alike. On the other hand, she is compelled to have adequate regard for the welfare of the Moslem population of Palestine, since unwise or hasty action—an uneven holding of the balance between Arab and Jew—would instantly shift the scene of the major problem from Palestine to India and the Near East generally. In India alone there are approximately 70,000,000 Moslems, all of whom, quite naturally, like the Jews of the outside world, are watching the progress of events through critical eyes.

Hence, it will be appreciated that the situation which has developed in Palestine is one which will test British statesmanship as it has not been tested for some time. If blood had not been spilled, conditions might have been shorn of their most sinister aspect. Even now, of course, more serious trouble may be avoided. Meanwhile there will be many who will wonder whether Britain was wise to shoulder the burden of governing the country.

HEROISM AT SEA

TIMES MAY CHANGE, BUT THE FINE traditions of heroism of the sea still remain. One finds the proof in the thrilling story of the rescue of three men and one woman from the wave-tossed waters of Lake Erie after a Cleveland-Detroit passenger plane had been forced down and sunk the other day. One man—John Kasper, a co-pilot of the airplane—was lost, but the other three were saved.

Weighted down with heavy flying clothes and heavy boots, but aided by a life preserver, Cy Caldwell, the chief pilot of the plane, swam four miles through rough seas to the nearest steamship lane. Caldwell was a mere dot on the horizon, bobbing up and down with the waves, when Allan Emerson, eagle-eyed second mate of the Canadian freighter Midland King, chanced to sight him. Quickly the ship put about and Caldwell was hoisted aboard, where he told of the other survivors still out there in the water.

Captain Roy Burke, master of the Midland King, turned his vessel and raced for the scene. His powerful searchlights penetrated the darkness and revealed Mrs. Robert Little, a passenger, struggling in the water. One glance at her predicament was enough for Walter Joslin, first mate of the Midland King. Without even waiting to don a life preserver, Joslin dived over the side and swam toward her. She was so exhausted that she could do little to aid him, and he soon became exhausted, too.

Sam Wilkinson, a wheelman, saw what was happening and dived overboard to aid the fast-weakening Joslin. Wilkinson, however, was swept around the stern by the strong current and barely managed to save himself by grabbing a life preserver that was thrown to him.

Joslin, with a half-unconscious woman on his arm, made his slow and painful way to a rope ladder, dropped over the Midland King's side. Supporting Mrs. Little with one hand, he grasped this. The waves tossed him about as though they were trying to snatch him to his death, but he held on with one hand until his arm was nearly pulled from its socket and the bone nearly broken. Then he passed Mrs. Little up to Second Mate Emerson, who had descended to the foot of the ladder. Slowly he followed them up the side of the ship.

Meanwhile, C. A. Lupold, another airplane passenger, was being picked up by another ship, where much the same scene was being enacted.

Yes, the glorious traditions of the sea still live, even in this modern day when survivors from ill-fated air liners are rescued from the deep. Times are different, but the cry for aid still finds willing and heroic rescuers ready to respond.

COAL STAGING A COME-BACK

IN THE SEPTEMBER NUMBER OF THE Scientific American there is a most interesting article on electric power produced by steam, by Mr. R. M. Boykin, president of the North Western Electric Light and Power Association, and manager of Puget Sound Power and Light Company, which is installing a $5,000,000 steam plant on Lake Washington, Seattle.

During the decade from 1920 to 1930, it is estimated the increase in waterpower will total only 5,960,000 horse, whereas power generated by steam will show an increase of 13,225,000 horsepower. The basis of this rapid growth is founded on economic facts summed up by no less an authority than Thomas Edison, who recently said: "Electric power can now be generated cheaper by steam than by waterpower."

This is good news for Vancouver Island, with her great coal resources. With the progress made and economic perfection lately attained by high pressure steam turbines, and the use of pulverized coal under boilers built on the unit system, the increased consumption of coal would appear to be assured. Last year the United States used in this way more than 15,000,000 tons of pulverized coal. For those who are interested, Mr. Boykin's article contains many facts and items of importance.

MR. SNOWDEN'S TRIUMPH

IT IS BEING SAID THAT THE AGREEMENT which has just been reached at The Hague in respect of the reparations controversy is the happiest augury which has come out of the post-war years. Commentators read into it new and more promising possibilities for a really practical understanding between all the principal European nations. They consider the cause of international peace, notwithstanding the many delicate situations which marked the conflict of view, has been well served.

Now that the heat of the battle is over, as The London Times puts it, it should be reasonable to assume that all the bitter words of the controversy will be forgotten and that there will be a more general recognition of the fact that war is a very costly and futile business. And it will not be surprising, moreover, if before long France, Belgium and Italy adopt a much more philosophical attitude towards the stand which Mr. Snowden took on Great Britain's behalf than their representatives did at the conference which now is about to be concluded. As it is with the individual, so it should be with the nation. From the standpoint of national pride as far as France is concerned, for instance, there should be little satisfaction in the fact that she, at any time she might please, could get the best of the friend who went to her aid in the hour of her gravest peril. All along, Great Britain has had to take the lead end of the bargain, and, in its wisdom, her Government considered the time had arrived to call a halt.

To Mr. Snowden belongs the credit, not only of a personal triumph, but of a triumph for British statesmanship in the face of formidable hostility. The British Chancellor was confronted with a task of the most delicate and difficult nature. He was compelled to tell the representatives of the former Allies of his country that he would be content only with the satisfaction of practically the whole of his demands. The situation at times looked nearly hopeless; deadlock after deadlock cast an uncomfortable gloom over the proceedings. In the end Mr. Snowden won his point. He obtained something like eighty per cent. of what he asked for. He sacrificed the rest.

One of the most singular developments of the controversy, as far as Great Britain's part is concerned, was the unanimity of the approval the British press and public extended so liberally to Mr. Snowden. It is fairly safe to say that scarcely ever before has a British statesman taken part in an international discussion, comments upon which have been so completely devoid of the critical note. Even the bitterest opponents of Mr. Snowden and the Government of which he is a member have forgotten their partisanship for the moment to congratulate him upon the able manner in which he discharged his unpleasant and difficult task. He put his country before all else, and popular imagination in Britain has been stirred as it has not been stirred for some time.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CANADIAN EDITORS ON TOUR
 The Toronto Globe

It is one of the signs of Canada's wider world outlook that a considerable party of newspaper editors from different cities have been making a tour of Europe, returning a few days ago. It is sometimes complained that Canadians are provincial in interest. If there has been truth in this statement, there is explanation in the fact that the Dominions covers an area as large as the whole of Europe and that it has many pressing problems for solution at home. At the same time it can be claimed that the larger Canadian newspapers give world-wide news on a large scale, and for some time past they have been served with an increased service of British news from staff correspondents of their own organization, the Canadian Press.

"GOOD" ENGLISH
 The Manchester Guardian

The chairman of the London County Council Theatres and Music Halls Committee complains that school children, however carefully taught by the state, are apt to converse largely in the slang which they get from American films and talkies. "The remedy," said Miss Rosamond Smith, "is a larger supply of good British talking films." But it is suggested that British talkies should be prepared strictly in the "best" English, whatever that may be. Are costermongers and denizens of select suburbs, burglars and stockbrokers, dons and cotton operatives, persons and the Lord Privy Seal all to be made to talk in "good English" for fear that the children may hear some expressions which they will convert to their own use with the child's instinctive taste for what is pungent and rare? The great majority of people in all strata of society talk much in slang, though the slang varies. Each living speech diverges from a static "good."

A THOUGHT

Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal?—Romans II 21.

Men trust rather to their eyes than to their ears: the effect of precepts is therefore slow and tedious, whilst that of examples is summary and effectual.—Seneca.

The Right Hon. Winston Churchill, C.H.

(From The Manitoba Free Press)

Five years ago Mr. Churchill became British Chancellor of the Exchequer at the age of fifty years; but twenty-five years ago, before he had turned his attention seriously to politics, he had made a reputation as a war correspondent that was world-wide. Mr. Churchill's choice of a profession in the later Victorian age had, of course, to be that of the grandson of a Duke; but though he entered the army, he has always been addicted to writing. He is a brilliant journalist. The self-education he has given himself, with the exception of what he gained at Harrow School, does not allow him to touch a subject, whether to write on it or to speak of it, without seeming to bring to bear on it the wisdom of all the ancients and the brain of a Wrangler. He has the intuition to turn great events to his own use, and seldom has he held government office, and he has held every portfolio of the first rank except that of the Lord Chancellor, without extracting from his experience the essence of matter worth reading. Politically, Mr. Churchill began as Conservative. He became a Liberal, but was Chancellor in the recently deposed Conservative Government. That, and very probably the completion of his trilogy on The World Crisis, brings to an end the second phase in an amazing career. What the next phase will be probably even he himself does not know; but it will be neither undistinguished nor uneventful.

Mr. Churchill, still in his prime, can look back in the pleasant reflection of a dazzling political career, but it, too, had to have its beginnings, had to be won. Mr. A. G. Gardiner, when editor of The London Daily News about twenty-one years ago, describes in "Prophecy, Priests and Kings" an early one of the earliest episodes in that career. "A.G.G." writes:

It was a quarter to twelve midnight. Mr. Balfour was once more at bay, defending his tottering ministry from collapse. The immediate point was a certain closure resolution. What were the terms? It was vital to the opposition that they should know, and know to-night. Mr. Balfour fenced and feinted. He would not give the conditions. He would hand them to the clerk on the adjournment. Once in his hands they were unpublished and undiscussible until to-morrow. The moment of adjournment had almost come, and Mr. Balfour had gained his point. He threw down the document on the table, and the opposition sank back defeated. In the moment of discomfiture a figure moved towards the table—the figure of a youth, fair, slight, with head thrust forward, eyes protruding, eyebrows lacking, the whole that of boyish audacity. He seized the document, turned back to his seat, and, before the House had quite realized what had happened, was disclosing, on the usual nightly motion that this House do now adjourn, the whole scheme in the form of a rain of questions addressed to Mr. Balfour. The secret was out. The Speaker rose, the House adjourned, and the members poured out into the lobbies, excitedly discussing Winston's audacity and what it had disclosed.

It was the Churchill touch. It carried the mind back to those brief years when another Churchill (Lord Randolph) was the storm centre of the House, bearding the mighty Gladstone with calculated insolence, ridiculing the "Marshall and Snelgroves" of his own party, and leaping on to his seat in the hour of victory, waving his hat and shouting with schoolboy glee. What a meteor it was! How brilliant its path, how dramatic its climax, how tragic its eclipse! And now his son leaps forward into the arena, with the same daring, the same aplomb, the same incomparable insolence. Again the cry is "A Churchill! A Churchill!" and to that cry the street responds as to no other. For it is the call to high adventure and careless gallantry. It suggests the clatter of hoofs in the moonlight, the clash of swords on the turnpike road. It is the breath of romance stirring the prosaic air of politics.

In a later year, "A.G.G." surveys the maturing Winston—Churchill, and writes:

More potent than his industry is his astonishing apprehension. He flashes through life, taking impressions, swift, searching, detached. He absorbs a moral or an intellectual atmosphere as an other man absorbs the oxygen of the air, and he gives it out as if it were his own vital breath. He is what the Spiritualists call a "medium"—a vehicle through which some vision, some doctrine, some enthusiasm finds temporary utterance apart from himself. No one has stated the principles of Liberalism with such breadth as he has done; no one has preached peace with more fervor, economy with more conviction, and social reform with a more thrilling break in the voice, or on the other hand, presented an unexampled naval expenditure with such an adroit and disarming appearance of sad necessity. Each task, however, subversive of former tasks, finds him perfectly equipped, for he always knows his subject, and convinces himself first. He is direct, rests his case on a plain argument, and avoids all the dialectical cobwebs by which the Cecils delight the intellect and bewilder the public. In saying this I do not wish to exaggerate the importance of consistency. A pedantic consistency is a sterile frame of mind. We all change if we are alive; we can all say with Whitman:

"Do I contradict myself?"

Very well, then, I contradict myself? (I am large, I contain multitudes.)"

Mr. Gardiner looked at Winston Churchill as the politician. Others estimated him variously as the soldier, B. H. Liddell Hart, in "The Making of Modern Armies," writes of him:

"Distinguished soldiers have derided Mr. Churchill as an 'amateur,' forgetting that he had spent more years in soldiering, seen more active service, and probably read as profoundly as Napoleon at the outset of his 1796 campaign—the most classic example of his art. Ten years later Mr. Churchill's wartime memoranda have been raised up in judgment upon these 'professional' critics and their rash gibes."

Mr. Churchill will be a visitor to Victoria next week, and will address a meeting of the Men's Canadian Club on Thursday at the Empress Hotel.

The Woman's Day

By ALLENE SUMNER

ROSE WALLACE, ten, and her brother Charles, fourteen, had the police of a whole state looking for them when they disappeared the other day. They were playing with some other children. One of the children snatched Rose's doll away and tore her clothes off. Rose slapped the doll assailant. The young assailant's mother came running, slapping everybody and threatening to call police. So Rose and Charles ran away.

The little story is interesting just as an example of this funny thing called maternal love which furiously and animal-like protects its own, but often does not care what happens to the children of someone else. Those very parents who most fiercely protect their own offspring very often have no universal love for children.

"OUR BETTERS"
The Dr. Snook murder trial waged in Columbus, Oh., and which is nationally prominent in a nation which numbers its daily murders about as it numbers auto accidents, makes one wonder why some are considered important and others not. To be sure, there's the eternal triangle motive, which is supposed to be universally interesting. But dozens of murders which receive only "honorable mention" have this basis sex motive.

The real answer is that here are people supposedly "Our Betters." A professional man, a doctor and a member of a state university on trial for his life for the confessed murder of a co-ed. Here are educated, well-dressed, well-mannered people. The mass of human beings are a bit lower on the ladder of the social scheme of things; nothing so gratifies them as to find that their "beters" can get wrung through the roller just as flat and humbly as their "lessers" can.

SHE CHANGED
Another interesting phase of the murder is the accused doctor's own story of what happened as his romance flowered. First, he told how charming and agreeable and interesting and companionable the girl whom he killed was. She asked for little, he said. They went into the whole adventure "with common sense." It was "just a mutually pleasant arrangement." But as time went on, the girl became unlike herself, he testified, telling of her irritability, jealousy, suspicion, "unreasonable demands."

And so two other human beings have discovered that deep, deep well of monagamous possessiveness which exists, all the surface rationalizing to the contrary. Two other pitiable, distraught human beings have discovered that it must be "either, or" and not not "both and."

RISKY!
It seems that being the betrothed or the mate of either a rich and celebrated man or an equally rich and celebrated woman has its pitfalls. It's becoming almost impossible for any girl to announce her engagement to any man without having that man immediately sued for breach of promise or what not.

The latest victim is the fiancée of Clara Bow, who finds himself implicated in a $250,000 suit with another lady. Oh well, it's flattering to have the world informed that one is considered capable of being sued for a quarter million, anyway!

RUTH ELDER WED YESTERDAY

Famous Flyer Becomes Bride Of Walter Camp Jr.

New York, Aug. 30.—Walter Camp, Jr., president of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and Ruth Elder, film and motion picture actress, were married at noon yesterday in the Municipal Chapel by City Clerk Michael J. Cruise. Only two members of Cruise's staff were present. Camp is thirty-eight. He is the son of the late Walter Camp, famous football coach. He has been a widower since 1928. Miss Elder described herself as the defendant in an action for divorce granted in Panama in June, 1928. She did not give the name of her former husband, Lyle Womack. She gave her age as twenty-four.

Mrs. R. G. Collis Is Again President Central W.C.T.U.

Mrs. R. E. Collis was re-elected president of the Central W.C.T.U. at the annual meeting held in the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon. Other officers chosen were: Secretary, Mrs. C. C. Wilkinson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wellwood. The remaining officers will be elected at the next meeting to be held on September 12. The reports of the various branches were read and accepted, each showing good progress made. The treasurer's report proved interesting, showing quite a large sum handled during the year and thirty-five paid-up members. The secretary in reviewing the year's work noted ten regular and a number of special meetings with prominent speakers on different topics such as higher education, League of Nations, Frances Willard, scientific education, Canadianization of women, etc.

Marble-Like Beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

To lend to your face the even-toned really smooth skin you must have a perfect powder base. I have spent years looking for a cream to enhance the loveliness of my own skin, which has always had the best care. In France, where I have always found my hopes realized, I found what I wished. Now you can have it, too. Simply ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. To take care of the many women whose skin has an abundance of natural oil, I have it made in the Vanishing type. For my own use, and for skins like mine, I recommend the Cold type. Both types are on any toilet counter. (Adv.)

I.O.D.E. EXHIBIT AT TORONTO FAIR

Premier of Ontario to Formally Open Order's Booth On September 4

The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire will be represented again this year in the women's building of the Canadian National Exhibition. Over their booth on the main floor of the building hangs the well-known emblem of the order, and the standards of the order, and the standards of the Canadian Chapter and the Toronto Municipal Chapter will also provide a colorful background.

The booth will be formally opened on Wednesday, September 4, when speeches will be given by the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, and by several national officers of the order, who will speak on the work which the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire is doing for Canada and for the Empire.

Various phases of the work of the order will be exhibited in the booth, including I.O.D.E. libraries and historical pictures which are sent to isolated schools in the different provinces of Canada. Mrs. A. G. Strath is convenor.

Pile Sufferers
Can You Answer These Questions?
Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting does not remove the cause?
Do you know the cause of piles is internal?
That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?
Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co., and druggists everywhere, that is guaranteed.
HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record of cure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. Don't delay. Try HEM-ROID to-day. (Adv't.)

EAST SOOKE HALL TO BE OPENED BY LIEUT.-GOVERNOR
(Special to The Times)
Sooke, August 30.—East Sooke Hall was completed and fully paid for last week, and will be formally opened by Hon. R. R. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor, on September 11, when an entertainment and dance will be held.
The permanent hall committee named this week includes: Mrs. F. Reid, Mrs. Frank Caffery, Lady Emily Walker, P. Reid, T. Cartwright and Eric Walker. It is the intention of the committee to add a kitchen as soon as funds are in hand.
Refreshments at the opening ceremony will be under the management of Mrs. Wicker, Mrs. Brown and P. and H. Thorne.
W. Eddy, Ronald Norman, George Brown and John Walker undertook cutting of firewood for the hall, and Mrs. Brown will be caretaker.

Give your Boy His Chance
You know what happens to the boxer who never trains.
HE never becomes a Dempsey—a champion!
Life is a battle as strenuous, as fierce, as any contest of the prize ring. And in life it's the same thing. It's the man with the training who wins.
Give YOUR boy his chance!
Don't send him into the battle of life untrained. Don't handicap him. Let Sprott-Shaw train him—AND TRAINING WILL WIN FOR HIM!
The cost of the investment is trifling. But can anyone say how great the eventual return may be?
Talk it over with us to-day!
(Sprott-Shaw is the only school in Victoria recognized by the Business Educators' Association of Canada and the Commercial Schools Association of the Pacific Northwest.)

YOUR BABY and MINE
By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

Mrs. Elder will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

Mrs. R. M. C. writes:
"Your articles in the paper are splendid and one can learn a great deal from them. I should like your opinion on whether my seven months old boy will be bow-legged? I feel that he won't. It is impossible to keep him from standing up in his crib and holding on to the sides.
"He has two teeth and can sit straight since six months of age. People tell me this early standing will make him bow-legged. He is not a heavy baby.
"I am feeding orange juice and the breast until hot weather is over and then intend to feed goats' milk. Shall I dilute it more than cows' milk?"

ANSWER
Thank you for your compliment on the department. I always feel gratified to know that it is helping mothers.
There is some danger of early standing bowing the legs of very heavy babies, or babies with rickets, but the thing that makes this improbable is that babies with rickets and babies who are very heavy seldom try to stand up so early, so I wouldn't feel worried about this. I wouldn't encourage it though, and the best method of discouragement is to let the baby pull himself to his feet and then seat him again gently.
"I do think other foods should be added to his diet, in spite of it being summer weather, in preparation for more varied feeding in the fall. Just orange juice and breast milk is a pretty skimpy diet for a healthy seven months old child, who should be having both cereals and vegetables daily. Beginning in September I would give cod liver oil during this second winter, too.
Goats' milk is a good choice of milk for the baby. It is diluted exactly as is cows' milk and the same formulas can be used. It has the advantages of a slightly more digestible curd; no danger of bovine tuberculosis and because of its more local distribution is apt to be fresher than cows' milk, which may have come from some distance.
Mrs. V. E. K.
"I must have used a word unfortunately when I said it was not a good policy to 'attack' school methods. We just don't agree on this particular subject. And you were quite right in your inference that this department isn't exactly the place to argue such subjects. That would rightly belong in a department conducted by a teacher. Your letter was charming, and convincing. I'm going to let you have the last word.

Goats' Milk Good Food for Infants
Mrs. Elder will be glad to forward her leaflet on "Foods to be Added to the Diet From Six Months to One Year" to any reader who desires information on this subject. Be sure to enclose the usual self-addressed, stamped envelope with request, mailed to Myrtle Meyer Elder, in care of the Your Baby and Mine Department of this newspaper.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Sixteen missionaries of the United Church of Canada, who sailed on the Empress of France last night for foreign mission fields, were warmly greeted by members of the Victoria Presbytery on their arrival in the city, and taken for an enjoyable drive and presented with "bon voyage" gifts in the shape of flowers, books and candy.
Among the travelers were Mrs. J. McGillivray, of Toronto, Dominion president of the Women's Missionary Society, who will make a personal tour of mission centres in the Orient; Miss Harvie, of Montreal; Miss Frances Bonwick, B.A., of Toronto, whose childhood was spent in Korea, and who is returning to that country in connection with missionary work; Miss McLaughlin and Miss MacDonald, of Cape Breton. Mrs. James Hood, president; Mrs. Hutton, secretary; Mrs. J. W. Saunby and Mrs. A. C. Wilkinson represented the Victoria Presbytery on the reception committee.

Mr. Sholto Watt, son of Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.B.E., and a native son of Victoria, has joined the staff of The Daily Express, Glasgow. Mr. Watt was educated at the Sorbonne, Paris, the London School of Economics and Balliol College, Oxford, where he graduated with honors. He is a brother of Robin Watt, Miss C. C. the well-known portrait painter of Montreal.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

CALLING THE CHILDREN
One Mother Says—
"The woman next door is forever thrusting her head out of an upstairs window and shrilly calling her 'John-e-e-e!' He hates to be yelled at that way when he is with his playmates, too. The woman across the street and her son have a fine system. She has a special little whistle, all for him, and when he hears it, he is ready with a two-note answer which says 'all-right' just as plain as can be. It is a pleasure to hear her calling him, and he doesn't mind being called a bit."

NANCY PAGE
MEASLES AND COLDS HAVE TREACHEROUS AFTER EFFECTS
By Florence La Ganks

Pam was sick with measles. Poor child she was so miserable that even mother's cool hands and the darkened room failed to make her feel any better. When Mrs. Lacey first suspected it was measles she called in the doctor, put Pam in a room by herself. The two older girls were given strict orders to stay away from the room. Her dishes were washed separately and her drinking glass was kept quite away from the others.
She had complained about fever, she had little appetite and was so sleepy. Then she began to cough and sneeze, her eyes were red and sensitive to even a moderate light. And then within a short time her forehead and neck showed red spots. These soon spread over the body and the doctor said "measles." He told Mrs. Lacey to keep the room quite dark and to manage some way to keep the child quiet. He said that measles were not so dangerous in themselves but that after effects might be felt for years. Eyes, ears and heart are all affected.

Aunt Nancy was quite worried. Joan had been playing with Pam a few days before and now she too seemed to have a cold. But it did not develop into measles. This cold had come because Joan had played too hard outdoors and then had eaten too much food and too quickly. Aunt Nancy blamed herself for not being more observant. Joan was put to bed after she had had a hot bath. Then she

While premising and allowing that black and brown undoubtedly have taken the lead this year so far, it must not be assumed they are without competition. Far from it. There are numerous new shades and nuances in evidence this season that are eminently attractive and alluring.

Prospects Look Bright For Coming Hunting Season

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Congratulations are in order to the Victoria Capitals on the occasion of their winning their second consecutive championship of the Vancouver Island Baseball League. The Capitals, who also hold the British Columbia Senior "B" title, hope to retain it as well.

Although meeting stiffer competition this year and as a result losing more games, the Capitals came through with their colors flying in the deciding game with Chemainus. The up-landers who tossed the local nine for three losses this year, were never in the picture. The Capitals did not win on their opponents' errors but on their hitting ability.

Much of the Capitals' success is due to the splendid work of their energetic manager, Cy Milne. A ball player of no mean class in his younger days, Cy has piloted the local nine to two island titles and one B.C. crown. Several times he has been called to step into the breach when the Capitals have been short of players and although out of the game for a number of years he is still capable of handling himself well on the diamond. He is a credit to local baseball and deserves plenty of praise for his work.

Sea-flea racing, the sport that has gone over with a bang in Eastern Canada and the United States, was introduced to Victorians Wednesday afternoon at the Victoria Bay regatta and it is great sport. The Easterners have taken to this sport like ducks to water so it would not be surprising if it took a strong hold on the sporting life of this city. Spectators are assured plenty of thrills.

Boxing to-day is in dire need of more fighters and managers. The game is being overmanaged. Most of the fighting is being done between rival managers and even threatened lawsuits are having a depressing effect upon the fans. Unless there is radical improvement, a small group of managers and high-pressure schemers will ultimately kill their own "fattest calf." It has happened in the past and once more the hand-writing can be plainly seen on the wall.

Max Schmeling is the cause of the latest controversy. The German came over to the United States as the most likely prospect the ring has seen in some time. Colorful and with an engaging manner the German was heralded as another Jack Dempsey. He even resembled the former heavyweight champion and promoters throughout the country began to bid spiritedly for his services. One of the last predictions made by the late Tex Rickard was that Schmeling looked very much like the next heavyweight titleholder. Tex was always partial to a foreign champion.

In his first appearances in the United States, the German heavyweight made good most of the promises that had been made about him. But Max reached out and made some new managerial connections and right away his troubles started. The German discovered that in the United States the managers and advisers and they were pulling in opposite directions. Contracts were like so many scraps of paper.

Schmeling was billed to appear in certain cities but failed to go through with the bookings because of managerial tangles. The New York Boxing Commission finally stepped into the mess. Other commissions also took a hand with the result that Max now finds himself steadily losing popularity and also the chance to make a quick clean up.

Unless some fall Max will not be right until he straightens out his group of managers and makes a new deal. It is tough that unscrupulous managers can spoil such a promising prospect as Schmeling, especially at this time when the ring is suffering from a drought of new talent.

Bill Tilden refused to be tucked away in camphor. After learning that the French stars would not cross the big pond to compete in this year's U.S. championships, Tilden promptly announced his intentions of again trying for the crown he held so many years ago and that he felt confident he would win it. Tilden is a man who by Cochet and Lacoste, who are much younger, but the tall Philadelphia should be able to hold his own for some time with the young U.S. players.

The United States is now paying the penalty for the long supremacy after the war when the Larry Cup was so secure there and the best of the foreigners had little chance with Tilden and "Little Bill" Johnson. These two were so winning that they seriously retarded the advancement of young U.S. racket wielders. In the old days there was no incentive for young players because they knew they could go just so far and then be bumped off by either Johnson or Tilden.

Deer, Blue Grouse And Quail Are All Reported Plentiful

Season Will Be Ushered In On September 14, With Buck Deer and Blue Grouse Becoming Lawful Game; Season On Does Will Not Open Up Until November 15; Pheasants Are Scarce Again This Season; Lots of Deer Seen In All Districts.

Prospects for the approaching hunting season on Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands look good, according to reports received from some of the best-known local hunters. Many enthusiasts who tramp the woods every fall in search of deer and game birds, have started to get their guns into first-class shape for the opening of the deer season on September 14. The main rush on the sporting goods stores for the rifle repairs and ammunition has not commenced yet, but plenty of interest is being shown over the approaching season.

The regulations this year, as laid down by the Provincial Game Board, have proved popular to the majority of the hunters, according to reports. A number of hunters who have been out in the woods recently report seeing large covers of blue grouse in the following districts: Salt Spring Island, Jordan River and all over the logged-off districts to the north of the Island. Blue grouse will remain in season until October 31. The daily bag limit on these birds is six.

Deer are reported to be plentiful in all districts of the Island and the hunters look forward to packing out some fine bucks. Last year was a good one for deer, many hunters getting their limit soon after the season got under way.

The big feature this year is the open season on does. However, hunters are reminded of the important fact that the does do not come into season until November 15, two months after the bucks. The bag limit on deer is three, one of which may be a doe, providing it is killed after November 15. All deer will go out of season on November 30.

Pheasants are plentiful this year as has been the case for the last few years, pheasants are scarce again this season. It would not be surprising if the season was closed on these birds for a couple of years in an effort to let them increase in numbers. Pheasants, cock birds only, come into season on September 15 and remain lawful game for just one month. The daily bag limit on pheasants is four, and the total limit for a season is fifteen.

Quail are as plentiful this year as ever, while quite a large number of European partridges have been seen. The former come into season on October 15 and remain in season until November 15. The season for partridges opens on November 1 and closes on November 15.

The bag limit on quail is ten for a day and 100 for the season, while on partridges the daily limit is six and the total limit twenty-five.

The duck season opens on October 15 and continues until January 31.

Freddie Wood to Be Banqueted by Mainland Golfers

New Westminster, Aug. 30.—Freddie Wood, the brilliant young golfer from the Victoria Golf and Country Club, will be the guest of honor at a dinner on Saturday night, when the directors will make a presentation to the semi-finalist in the Canadian tournament at Jasper Park last week. Arrangements are under way to secure Wood a position that will enable him to spend more time on the course. At the present time he is only able to visit the club on Sundays and Wednesdays.

TILDEN AND HUNTER LOSE

Defeated by George Lott and Johnny Doeg in U.S. Championship

Brookline, Aug. 30.—George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago and J. Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., defeated "Big Bill" Tilden and Francis T. Hunter for the second time this week here yesterday in the semi-final round of the forty-eighth United States doubles championship, 7-5, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Berkeley Bell and Lewis N. White became the other finalists by conquering W. F. Coen Jr. and Harris Coggeshall, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

When the national match doubles play ended just before dark Mrs. Phoebe Watson and J. S. Oliff, the English team seeded fourth on the foreign list, were along in the semi-final bracket as a result of their 8-6, 5-7, 11-9 victory over Miss Helen Jacobs and Wilmer Allison, top ranked United States pair.

In the mixed quarter-finals played here by the Island Road Club for the Leslie Ravenhill trophy, A. week later he journeyed over to the mainland and won the 137-mile race from Seattle to Vancouver, in the excellent time of 6 hours, 53 minutes and 46 seconds. Stan Jackson, formerly of Victoria, finished second in this event.

SUN FIRE WINS FEATURE EVENT

Promising Looking Stake Horse Captures Ballston Handicap at Saratoga

New York, Aug. 30.—R. T. Wilson's Sun Fire—a four-year-old plater with pretensions toward stake caliber—turned in a new victory yesterday to win the Ballston Handicap—the top race of a card that featured maiden performances at Saratoga.

Trailing ten lengths soon after the start and five lengths behind the field of four at the three furlong pole, Sun Fire came up with a rush in the stretch to beat Rudolph Spreckels' clever Sageboys, the favorite. Sageboys, however, beat Gun Royal four lengths for the place. Sun Fire's time for the seven furlong route was 1:24 2-5 and the victory was worth $2,500 to his owner and $1 to his backers.

Jean Valjean, a ranking two-year-old of 1929, made his bow to Saratoga's racing public in the Waterford dash of one mile for three-year-olds and upward—but finished third. The Sagamore stable's Col. Collector led the field home in the fast time of 1:38 1-2. K. E. Hitt Sunvur was second, while in the also ran group were Mrs. John D. Hertz's Imported colt, Gypsy King and the Threeds' Royal Ford.

Crack Poloists Will Seek U.S. Championship

New York, Aug. 30.—Six teams, numbering in their ranks the finest polo talent in the United States and England, begin their quarrel for the United States open championship on International Field at Westbury, L.I., to-morrow.

FREDDY BURNS SETS NEW MARK

Goes Around Eighteen Holes At Macaulay in 65 to Cut Two Strokes Off Record

Slicing two strokes off the former record of 67, Freddy Burns, professional at the Macaulay Golf Club, set up a new mark for his home course yesterday afternoon by checking in with a brilliant 65. The former record was held jointly by Burns and Norman Wallace. Burns was playing with Wallace and F. Morton yesterday when he flashed his great round.

Burns did the first nine holes in 32 and the second nine in 33. Going out Burns had three 3's, along with one two, four 4's and a five, which he took on the long seventh. Burns continued his steady golf, coming home having five 3's, two 5's and two 4's. The pro had six birdies on the round.

Burns's card follows:

Local Athletes Leave For Big Meet To-night

With their eyes fixed upon five provincial championships, a picked team of Y.M.C.A. track and field men will leave Victoria to-night for the British Columbia Inter-provincial meet at Brockton Point, Vancouver, to-morrow. George Aldous will run in the half-mile, Art Fell in the 100 and 220-yard hurdles, Len Nicholls the long jump and Cyril Conner for the 100-yard and perhaps 220-yard sprints, "Chuck" Cunningham in the quarter and half-mile events, and Frank Aldous in the mile.

The entire team has shown its speed in recent meets on the mainland and will doubtless do well on this occasion.

Vancouver Cricket Team to Play Here In Labor Day Match

Fielding its strongest all-star team, the Victoria Wednesday Cricket League expects to give the Vancouver representatives of the same local a hard game when they meet here in the Labor Day fixture at Beacon Hill. The mainstay players will arrive in the city on the Monday morning boat and will continue to the grounds for the game at 10:30 o'clock.

The Vancouver team is reported to be exceptionally strong and expects to carry off the honors in the fixture. The local team will be composed of the following players: Shrimpton, H. Hansen, G. Baker, F. Tyrell, W. H. Pendray, C. M. Galt, G. Payne, J. Payne, T. Hallett, D. Fletcher and G. Linton.

Six Home Runs Seen As Mills Wallop Jokers

New Westminster Baseball Champions Snow Under Local Titleholders 19-5 In Opening Play-off Game; "Chuck" Jacobson, Visitors' Elongated First Baseman, Crashes Three Circuit Clouts; Offerings of Donaldson and Lidstone Slaughtered.

Collecting a total of twenty-three hits, including five home runs, Fraser Mills, New Westminster baseball champions, trotted off the field at the Royal Athletic Park last night with a 19-5 victory tucked away under their belts over the Jokers, local titleholders. The Mills who boast one of the strongest clubs in the Province gave the fans a real exhibition of just how to hit the ball. The offerings of the two local hurlers were simply slaughtered. It was not that the Jokers did not play good baseball, they were just outclassed.

"Chuck" Jacobson, elongated and slow moving first sacker of the Mills, was the batting king of the evening. During the eight innings he lifted three balls over the centre field fence. This lad, who is the leading hitter in the New Westminster League, is playing a great brand of ball and up until now no error has been chalked up against him this season. It is rumored he is headed for more lucrative fields. Of the three other home runs, White and Hebert of the visitors each got one, while Claude Belcher, the Jokers' first baseman contributed the other.

The visitors did not field their strongest team, but it was plenty powerful enough as far as the Victoria nine was concerned. Doug Muscutt, who is considered about the weakest pitcher on their staff, was able to hold the Jokers to five scattered hits, while he struck out three. Dave Donaldson, manager of the Jokers, surprised the fans by starting on the mound. But the year was not for the heavy sluggers of the Mills, and after laboring for one and two-thirds innings, yanked himself in favor of Lidstone. The latter worked hard, but it was not enough.

The Mills got to Donaldson for three hits in the first inning that counted for a couple of runs. Hawkes got a life at first when he beat out an infield fly to Collins. Jacobson then came through with his first home run of the game. Donaldson pulled himself out of the hole by striking out Ryan to retire the side with runners on second and third.

In their half of the inning the Jokers managed to stay in the picture by tying the score, but it was the last time. Henry Downs got to first when Brown muffed his hot grounder. Smith laid down a bunt and was safe. Muscutt, throwing the ball to first with nobody covering the sack, both runners advancing on the throw. The Mills added four more to their total in the second frame. Muscutt rattled one off the left field boards for two bases. Kratz grounded out to Belcher. Muscutt advancing to third, and scoring on Whites hit for two bases to the left field garden. White ran home. Hebert, single to right field. Jacobson forced Hawkes at second. Hebert walking to the plate with a bat that resembled a young telephone pole hit the ball over the centre field wall. This marked Donaldson's exit.

Still fighting, the Jokers succeeded in boosting their total by two in the second. "Hap" Gandy hit between Belcher and Kratz, grounded out to Belcher, picked out a nice ball and cracked it over the fence.

PROCESSION STARTS

In the fifth inning the Mills batted right around their line-up to drive in eight runs and sew up the game. White led off with a three-bagger to right field, the ball going over Elmer Smith's head. Hawkes hit one over second to score White. Jacobson struck out. Hebert hit a high ball to right field that Belcher failed to get under. Belcher, 1b, hit a single. Sullivan hit the fence for a single and the bases were loaded. Brown's pop fly over third went for a hit, one runner coming home. Dalley batted for Ryan. Hebert and Sullivan scored after Dalley hit to right field, and Belcher followed the crash with a wild throw. Muscutt hit safely to score Brown. Kratz got a single. Both runners crossed the plate on White's home run.

The Mills added one more run in the fifth, Jacobson crashing out his

Pirates' Phantom Legion Chases Vanished Hope

Providing Only Supreme Moment Of Stretch Run

Jewel Ens Leads Pittsburgh to Third Straight Victory Over Chicago Cubs; National League Leaders See Advantage Sliced to Eleven and Half Games; Bill Walker, Young Giant Southpaw, Flirts With Hall of Fame For Eight Innings; Athletics Add Half Game to Big Lead.

The march of Pittsburgh's phantom legion moves on through the darkness in a stubborn attempt to recapture a vanished hope. It all seems so impossible, but this return of Corsair ghosts from the grave nevertheless is giving the National League, and all baseball for that matter, the only shred of a supreme moment the stretch run of 1929 can know.

The miracle may last no longer, but remarkably enough it was carried through three games in two days, to the utter amazement of Joseph McCarthy and the Chicago Cubs. The third Pittsburgh decision was gained by 5-4 at Forbes Field yesterday as a small huddle of the faithful sat and watched. This latest Pirate victory served only to reduce the lead of the Cubs to eleven and one-half games. The Dreyfuss dragons need all the series, and all may be too little, but they at least hope that Brame and possibly Grimes can continue the spurt against Bush and Blake.

Then with the Bruin lead shorn to nine and one-half engagements, Jewel Ens might be permitted to wonder just how great a miracle was needed to accomplish what would be the greatest of all baseball miracles.

FLIRTS WITH FAME
Bill Walker, the young New York Giant southpaw, flirted with the hall of fame at Ebbets Field yesterday when he held the Robins hitless through eight rounds only to see them pick up four blows and two runs in the ninth. The Giants won the game 6-2. Mel Ott helped with his thirty-third home run.

The Phillies scored twice in the tenth at Boston to nose out the Braves 5-4.

The Philadelphia Athletics added half a game to their lead by shading the Boston Red Sox 7-6 as the New York Yankees divided two with the Washington Senators. Babe Ruth's thirty-seventh home run enabled the Yankees to save the opener 5-4, after a circuit drive by Goose Goslin apparently had sealed up the decision for Fred Marberry and the Senators. Washington routed Hoyt in the nightcap to win by 8-4.

Big Ed Morris deserved a better fate in his game against the Macks, but that Red Sox pretense at an infield fell to pieces in the seventh and three unearned runs dashed home before the tide could be stemmed. Jack Rothrock smashed a homer in the fourth with the bases filled.

RALLY IN NINTH WINS
Ted Lyons continued his rampage by shaking the ambitious Cleveland Indians in Chicago 2-1. Willis Hudlin made the White Sox work for everything they got, but they finally

THE HOME RUN PARADE
The Big Six members who represented the Athletics, did the heavy hitting for the organization yesterday. Jimmy Fox and Al Simmons each got two hits in four times at bat to register small gains in the batting averages.

Fox went up from .376 to .375, while Simmons lifted his mark to .368, regaining his place ahead of Hornsby, who slipped to .364 with one hit in five tries. Babe Ruth got two hits, including his thirty-seventh homer of the year, but he went to bat seven times. Frank O'Doul once more joined the Big Six, displacing his Phillie teammate, "Chuck" Klein. O'Doul is slugging at a rate of .390, which puts him in second place in the standing, while Klein has fallen off considerably.

SETTLING THE POINT IN GOLF

DISTURBING THE GRASS
If a player's ball lies in high grass or bushes, only so much of the grass or bushes shall be touched as will enable the player to find his ball.

This prohibits a practice common among many golfers of parting the grass around the ball and pressing it down with the foot or a club so as to enable them to get the ball out more easily. If the grass is parted in the manner prohibited, the player loses the hole.

HORSE RACING

Vancouver, Aug. 30.—Leading from the barrier to the wire, Shortway, ridden by Teasdale, pulled the surprise at Brighouse yesterday afternoon when he won by three lengths, unchallenged.

From Chard, second favorite, Hiram Taylor coming third. Glad Effort was favorite in the mutuels, but ran a disappointing race, finishing sixth in a field of seven.

Marie K. was another winner who fooled the wise ones by making the wire at the head of her field in the first to reward her backers with $80.30 on the nose and $64.45 across the board. Long prices prevailed in the majority of events.

Results follow:
First race, five furlongs—1, Marie K., $30.35, $23.85, $10.25; 2, Combustion, $7.70, $3.60; 3, Walpole, $3.20.

Second race, six furlongs—1, Short Cut Jr., $11.90, $6.50, $4.60; 2, Lady Simmons, $8.70, $5.90; 3, Silent Stranger, $4.10.

Third race, one mile—1, Sincere, $17.80, $7.40, $4.10; 2, Edwill D., $4.10; 3, Alberta Lad, $3.40.

Fourth race, five furlongs—1, Macon, $8.00, $3.20, $2.50; 2, Red Plume, $2.40, $2.20; 3, Ida Fitzpatrick, $2.65.

Fifth race, six furlongs—1, Shortway, $33.80, $11.40, $4.60; 2, Chard, $4.00, $2.60; 3, Hiram Taylor, $2.80.

Sixth race, mile and seventy yards—1, Sylvanus, $10.65, $5.50, $3.90; 2, Queen Olivia, $6.75, $4.40; 3, Slipper to Slipper, $3.70.

Seventh race, mile and seventy yards—1, Greenhills, $7.80, $4.50, $3.10; 2, Tuxedo Sam, $3.20, $2.50; 3, Lady Barrett, $4.10.

"Keed" Outgenerals Jewish Idol to Win Hairline Decision

Al Singer Gives Cuban Battle of His Life in Twelve Thrilling Rounds Before 45,000 at New York; Although Outweighed Chocolate Was Stronger at Close; Al Forced to Hold on in Eighth When Cuban Uses Snaky Left Hand; Referee and Judges Fail to Agree.

New York, Aug. 30.—The amazing ring record of Eligio Sardinias—Cuba's Kid Chocolate—still was unmarred by defeat today, but the smiling Cuban negro has found at least one foe who can give him a run for his money. Through twelve rounds of brilliant action a dazzling exhibition of boxing skill was punctuated by sporadic outbursts of toe to toe slugging, Chocolate and young Al Singer, Jewish idol of the Bronx, battled on close to even terms at the Polo Grounds last night, with the final decision going to the Cuban.

So close was the struggle that some portion of the crowd of 45,000 booed lustily when the decision was announced. Even the judges and the referee failed to agree, two voting for Chocolate and one for Singer. The Associated Press score sheet gave Chocolate six rounds, Singer four, with two even.

HEADY BATTLE
Against Singer's superior aggressiveness and harder hitting power, Chocolate fought a heady battle. He was content to lay back; keeping Singer off with a snaky left until the going got tough.

Then he tore in furiously and had the Bronx idol holding on at several stages of the battle. Singer found little use for his right hand with which he knocked out Andre Routsis of France, the featherweight champion. Chocolate outgeneraled him the whole way, tied him up effectively in the clinches and had Singer swinging wildly at times.

Despite a weight deficit of nearly four pounds, the dusky Cuban was the stronger at the close. In the fifth the Cuban caught Singer with one right to the chin that nearly floored the Cuban, and in the eighth a right uppercut forced Al to hold on while his head cleared.

On the other side of the picture, Singer unleashed two brilliant attacks—in the second and eleventh rounds—that had Chocolate back-peddling and a bit uncertain.

The fight by rounds:
Round 1—The two sparkling youngsters teamed with confidence and ability, dodged and feinted about the center of the ring until Chocolate stepped in with a left hook to the head and body that traveled almost too fast to see. They wrestled and roughed for a moment and Chocolate ripped his right a half-dozen times to the short ribs. Singer battled back furiously, caught the negro laid with rights and lefts to the chin, and was forcing the going at the gong.

Round 2—They feinted and bobbed again in the center of the ring, a pretty picture as the ring lights flooded down on the black haired Jewish lad's tanned body and the gleaming black skin of the ebony enigma. Singer pressed the battle as Chocolate laid back carefully behind his spear left. Al caught the Cuban's chin with a pair of whistling hooks, but took a smacking right to the chin in return. Singer drove the "Keed" to the ropes and hammered his body lustily as the gong clanged.

Round 3—Chocolate stole a leaf from Singer's book and rushed the Jewish lad, and swarmed all over his left and right deep in Singer's body in a sparkling rally. They were so fast in the open and adroit at blocking that each tried to bull the other to the ropes for decisive punches. They sparred until Singer let an opening. Then Chocolate was on top of him like a little black panther, ramming both fists to the head and body until Al was forced to hold and retreat. Singer was hurt at the bell.

Round 4—The crowd bellowed a steady roar on the flashy youngsters, giving up their brilliant boxing exhibition for the moment, baited like a pair of infuriated windmills in the center of the ring and along the ropes, lifting their punches from the floor inside. First Singer roared his man with rights and lefts to the jaw, and then the tiny panther, stung and hurt, loosed a storm of furious punches that drove Singer before him. One right to the chin nearly dropped Al at the gong.

Round 5—Again they started slowly, working up the leather storm gradually as they went along. Chocolate stabbed a hard left into Singer's face, but would not lead into the trap the clever Jewish boy set for him. Singer battled his way in close and smashed a hard right to Chocolate's ear. Two left hooks splashed full on the Chocolate drop's chin, but the negro laid out Al's cheek with a hook just before the gong.

Round 6—Singer's right eye started to close from the effect of that last punch. Singer whipped over a right to the head, dropped a left hook to the body and battled his man fiercely on the ropes. As they came away Chocolate measured Singer with a left and a right to the head that brought more blood to Al's cheek and sent him flying across the ring. Singer was cautious and he staved off Chocolate's rush with left to the head as the gong sounded.

Round 7—A hard fast exchange in the center of the ring left little advantage to either as they swapped hooks and jabs to the head and body. Singer forced the battle, while Chocolate laid back, stabbing his way out of traps as Al sought the opening for his heavy right hand. There was little action, and the first series of "Bronx cheers" from the gallery was heard, but the youngsters broke that with another sharp, swift punching rally at the bell.

Round 8—Chocolate appeared the better ring general as they fenced in the center of the ring in lightning fashion. The Cuban Keed found his opening and swarmed all over the Jewish boy, hammering his head with short blistering hooks and digging both hands deep into the body as Singer tried to clinch. Al boomed a straight right inside Singer's famed right eye, right high again on the negro's head, but Chocolate almost tipped the white boy over with a clean right uppercut to the chin, the negro stepping consistently inside Singer's famed right hand to belt the body in close. They were clinched at the bell.

Round 9—Slowing the pace for a moment, they stabbed and sparred for a bit. Again Chocolate found his opening and flashed a crackling right to Singer's chin. Al became quite careful but stepped in close once more to dig his left into the negro's ribs. A left hook raised a "mouse" under Chocolate's right eye. Boxing and feinting with tingling speed, Chocolate drove Singer to the ropes and landed another solid right to the chin just before the gong.

Round 10—Singer came out with the blood of battle both in and under his eyes, smacking his left hook solidly to the negro's body. As Al missed a wild right Chocolate, a marvelous counter fighter, stepped in with a left to the body and right to the head that forced Singer to hold. Singer bounced the Chocolate drop into the ropes with a right to the chin and worked to the body at close quarters. He forced what milling there was up to the bell.

Round 11—Singer geared up his attack in an effort to catch the elusive negro and silence him with barrage of the heavy right, but Chocolate was too smart. As Singer missed wildly the Chocolate drop stepped in neatly with lefts to the head. Both were milling. He nailed Chocolate close to the ropes with a left hook and right uppercut to the head. Chocolate was content to stab and depart under the star and retreated until the bell sounded.

Round 12—The battling seemed so close when they started the final round that both cut loose will at all they had. They wrestled and tugged at close quarters, broke clear and slugged from the floor to each other's head, but both were wild. Chocolate ripped his right twice to Singer's head and chased him across the ring with left hooks to the head and body.

Singer fought back fiercely and the negro slowed down, took his time. His right cracked Chocolate on the chin and almost broke clear over it. It was a frantic slugging bee with Singer, the stronger, driving the slim negro boy before him. Chocolate staged a final rally as the last bell sounded.

OUR MAIL BAG
CRICKET TOURNEY
To the Sports Editor:—Statements have appeared in the press that the Cowichan Cricket Club withdrew from the Pacific Coast tournament held in Victoria last week and scratched its matches.

I wish to eliminate the suggestion that the club has not kept its engagements.

We had arranged to play in Vancouver Saturday before we knew that it was proposed to hold the tournament. We had the pleasure of entertaining the Vancouver and Okanagan eleven on Monday night, Tuesday and Wednesday and we played the Inco's on the University School ground on Wednesday.

We accepted the invitation of the tournament executive to play on the grounds of the city held a meeting at which officers were elected for the coming season and other business discussed, including a six-team league and formation of an intermediate league.

The same argument applies to the proposed intermediate league. We have neither enough players nor grounds to play on, without drawing upon the juniors. To do this will, I feel, be a grave mistake. Leave the juniors alone. Their display last season was creditable to themselves and the game, and they are coming along fine under present conditions, and must flourish if we are to have seniors for the future. Taking a junior player to bolster up a weak senior team is usually disastrous to the playing career of the junior.

The football authorities are faced with a great difficulty on the above question and, personally, I do not see how the L.F.A. can do much other than advise, but with the league officials it is a different matter. They have the right to say how many teams shall enter the league. They are not bound to accept every entry offered, and it would not do so if it is not in the interest of the game, and last season's results should be of some guidance to them. They are experienced enough to know that carrying weak teams is a source of trouble to themselves, a breach of faith with the paying public and a hindrance to the advancement of the game generally up to the league officials to make a firm stand on this question, and they will find the supporters of the game behind them.

In conclusion I just wish to say that with six teams playing senior football, the two most prominent and popular grounds, namely, the Royal Athletic and Beacon Hill, are barred to our junior teams three Saturdays out of four, so that the public does not have much chance of seeing the junior displays. This in itself is not right and should be altered.

Oshawa Lacrosse Team Snows Under Edmonton Stars
Edmonton, Aug. 30.—Edmonton's stellar lacrosse team proved to be no barrier to the Oshawa General Motors representatives in the latter's quest for the Mann Cup, emblematic of the championship of the Dominion of Canada, the flashy Oshawa team triumphing over the locals here last night by a score of 14-1. As the score indicates, the Easterners were much more confident of their ability to win the Mann Cup on September 2 and 4.

Playing before a crowd of about 400 people, the largest by far that has ever witnessed a lacrosse game in this city, the visitors opened up in the first period and never looked back, scoring goals almost at will.

After the game the Easterners entertained for the Pacific Coast, where they will meet the New Westminster Royals in the final for the Mann Cup on September 2 and 4.

Crown Prince Humbert, who is twenty-four, and the Belgian princess, twenty-two, met when the latter was studying in Italy.

FIRE INSURANCE DROPS AS OTHER COSTS INCREASE

Average Drops 17 Per Cent Since 1913, While Living Costs Mount Up

A decrease of 17 per cent since 1913 in the average rates of fire insurance companies as contrasted to an increase in costs of commodities, taxes, wages, buildings and other necessities ranging from 20 to more than 200 per cent, is shown in an analysis recently prepared by F. D. Layton, president of the National Fire Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn. Besides the cost of fire insurance, the only other item that showed cheaper prices was electricity for residence use, which was reduced 15 per cent in cost during the period since 1913.

Commenting upon the analysis, the National Fire Insurance Company says: "Fire insurance companies and their employees, as well as other industries and the public in general, have been subjected to drastically increased costs for nearly everything. In spite of this, the fire insurance business has been rendering more service and granting more indemnity for its premium dollar each succeeding year since 1913. During a period when the average annual rate for fire insurance decreased from $1.04 to 88 cents, heat, printing, office supplies, equipment, traveling expenses, taxes and general operating and living expenses cost more than was paid in 1913.

FIRE RISKS REDUCED
Insurance agents, brokers and companies have been regularly rendering valuable service on the individual risk, endeavoring to reduce its fire hazard and to lower the insurance therefor. Collectively, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and other organizations, as well as individually, the companies have performed many indispensable but costly services to the public in trying to hold down the fire waste by co-operation on public water supply installations, city fire-fighting defenses, arson detection, operating a bureau of standards for building construction and testing various devices and in many other ways.

The effect of this service has been to lower the average rate and to help to conserve the national wealth by retarding fire waste—and this at the sacrifice of the income of the insurance companies, agents and brokers.

EFFECT OF SERVICE

It is inevitable that by spending money and energy to bring about improvement of risks and conditions, to reduce the fire waste, and to lower the average annual rate, the expense ratios of the insurance company will increase. Better supervision means increased expense but tends to reduce losses and insurance costs and therefore is justified.

With fire losses in dollars up 203 per cent—burnable values up 203 per cent—living and operating expenses materially higher, the public will naturally wonder how our average rate decreased 17 per cent despite these conditions. Substantially the answer is: Our business methods are more efficient; more insurance is carried in proportion to the value than formerly; greater volume of business is being handled; fire prevention activity has improved construction, protection and housekeeping on the average; fire losses, while running higher in dollars than in 1913, are doubtless less in volume of material destroyed; moreover, the proportion burned has not increased as much as burnable values.

The fundamental elements of insurance are money, brains and experience—these cannot be controlled, cornered, or monopolized. Insurance safeguards credit and commerce, furnishes indemnity to the public, helps to hold down the fire waste and adds greatly to the working capital of the nation through its investments. It is efficiently and intelligently conducted; it is a constructive force in our economic life and a business of which the public may well be proud. Let us all do our part in acquainting the public with this creditable showing.

OAK BAY WILL HAVE ELECTION

Trustee Neild Resigns, Vote To Fill His Place To Be Taken September 14

A bye-election for school trustee in Oak Bay will be held in the Municipal Hall on Saturday, September 14, it was decided at the regular meeting of the Oak Bay Council last night.

This step was made necessary by the resignation from the board of Trustee R. R. Neild. In a letter to the council, H. F. Hewitt, secretary of the board, said that it was in the interests of the municipality generally to put Mr. Neild in charge of supervision of the erection of the new high school and such other work as may temporarily come within the board's direction. Mr. Hewitt expressed the wish that the council not exercise its right to call an election for a trustee to fill Mr. Neild's place, but a clause in the Public Schools Act makes it necessary for an election, it was found.

R. F. Bandy will serve as returning officer. Nominations will close on Monday, September 9.

INSECT ARMY IS FAST BEING DEPLETED

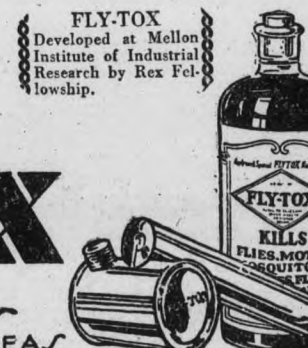

Commanding General Says Bugs Will be Wiped Out By Fall

"Our FLY-TOX sprayers are the greatest menace to the insect army ever devised by science," declared General "Tox" in a recent interview while resting after the big spring offensive against the insect army.

General "Tox" has been in personal command of the FLY-TOX offensive since it began this year, and he declared that his much-needed rest was made possible by the fact that housewives all over the country have come to his aid and can now wield a FLY-TOX sprayer as well as his best troops.

The insect army is fast being depleted to such an extent that the only resistance now is from guerrilla bands of insect warriors. General "Tox" declares that by Fall the entire international insect forces will be wiped out.

IMPROVED AUTOGYRO HAS ITS UPS AND DOWNS IN TEST HOP

Anyone can fly this autogyro plane after eight or ten hours' instruction, according to claims of its makers. The improved model, which takes off in less than half the space required by an ordinary plane, is pictured above as it landed, full-skid first, during successful tests at Philadelphia. It descended almost vertically and rolled only a few inches after touching the ground. Note the four propeller-like blades whirling above the cockpit. Below is a close-up of the autogyro's biplane tail. The bottom surface of the tail is fixed, with the top one acting as an elevator and equipped for tilting in starting. Juan de la Cierva, thirty-three-year-old Spanish inventor of the craft, is shown with Harold Pitcairn, left, owner of American patent rights on the autogyro.

Postpone San Diego Regatta Until 1930; Locals May Compete

Just when Victoria's rowing fraternity was getting all pepped up over the chances of Ray Ditchburn and Dan Moses, N.P.A.A.O. senior doubles champions, in the San Diego Labor Day regatta, word comes that the meet has been postponed until next year.

Arrangements had been made by the James Bay Athletic Association to have their star scullers sent to the meet, but now things will have to rest until 1930.

However, while the postponement is received with some regret in local quarters, the knowledge that the regatta will be put over in a bigger way next year should furnish the Victoria boys with greater incentive for next season's rowing. In the notice of the cancellation of the meet, the San Diego Club stated that the Chamber of Commerce would be standing behind the event next year and several crews as well as singles and doubles oarsmen of national calibre would be secured for the event.

Shaw's Plays May Go On As Talkies

London, Aug. 30.—Closing scores in English cricket matches yesterday were:

Kent 380 and 158 for seven wickets; Middlesex 168.

Leicester 516 for eight wickets declared; Surrey 131 for five wickets.

Gloucester 212 and 117; Hampshire 167 and nineteen runs for one wicket.

Glamorgan 239 and thirty-two for one wicket; Lancashire 447 for five wickets declared.

Northants 219 and 45 runs for two wickets; Nottingham 305.

Somerset 334 and 290 for eight wickets; Warwick 129.

Worcester 94 and 229 for eight wickets; Yorks 307 for seven wickets declared.

South Africa 330 and 160 for three wickets; Sussex 239.

however, the thought that the world might be able to hear Shawian wit and philosophy as well as to read it might influence G.B.S. to allow certain of his works to be world broadcast in a way that has hitherto been impossible. If the New York Theatre Guild has any success with their project they also hope to get G.B.S. to write a special play for production as a talkie.

Cochran Plans Big Talkie Revue.

London, Aug. 30.—C. B. Cochran has announced some new details of "Cochran's Talkie Revue," which he has arranged to produce. Herbert Wilcox and the Gramophone Company (H. M. V.) will be associated with Cochran in this new venture.

"It will have," he said, "the most remarkable cast ever presented in any form of entertainment, comprising the greatest stars of the opera, ballet, and theatre. Imagine in the past age Dan Leno, Marie Lloyd, Jean and Edouard de Reszke, Florence St. John, Arthur Roberts, Melba, Herbert Beerholm Tree, Yvette Guilbert, Sarah Bernhardt, Paulus and the Saxe-Meiningen players.

"I hope to have the assistance of Doris Zinkelsen, Gladys Calthorpe, Ernst Stern, William Nicholson, Brunelleschi, Rex Whistler, Oliver Messel, and other famous painters and designers, for the costumes and decor. The revue will be first presented publicly in Manchester, and then for a London run at a theatre now under my control."

THIS IS WHY "TINY" FAILED AS PILOT!

Bernard West of Los Angeles is just too big to be a pilot! After "Tiny" (of course, he would be called that, because he weighs 415 pounds!) had finished his ground instruction, he applied for a chance to be a pilot. Block and tackle were used, as shown above, to get him to the pilot's cockpit—but "Tiny" couldn't fit his pouge into the plane. And so he was turned down.

Bank Reports Crop Outlook

Harvest on Prairies Speeds
Up Under Ideal
Conditions

Montreal, Aug. 30.—The Bank of Montreal's weekly crop report issued to-day says that in the prairie provinces harvest operations are proceeding under ideal conditions, with threshing becoming general. The yield is slightly better than was expected. In British Columbia recent rains have been beneficial to all crops. Details follow:

Alberta—Western Area—Fifty per cent of the wheat and twenty per cent of the oats have been cut. The latter is a very light crop. In the southern section actual wheat yields are ranging from three to ten bushels per acre. In the centre yields are very small, and in some cases will not return seed. In the southern section little threshing has been done, but the estimated average yield is 25 bushels and the grades 2 to 3 Northern.

Alberta—Northeastern Area—Cutting is about fifty per cent. completed, but there has been practically no threshing. The estimated yield is ten bushels, grading 3 Northern. The oat yield is small.

Alberta—Southeastern Area—Wheat is 75 per cent. cut, but little has been threshed. The estimated yield is about ten bushels, grading 2 and 3 Northern. Saskatchewan—Northern Area—Cutting is well advanced and threshing getting under way. A fair crop will be harvested over a considerable area, wheat grading from No. 2 to 4.

Saskatchewan—Southern Area—Harvesting is ten days earlier than in 1928. Early threshing returns indicate wheat grading from No. 1 to 4 and yielding from 4 to 18 bushels. Feed crops are short of local requirements.

Manitoba—Dry weather continues. Cutting is almost completed and threshing is now well advanced. The average yield in threshed areas is: Wheat, 15 bushels, grading 1 to 3; barley, 20 bushels, and threshing is now well advanced.

The average yield in threshed wheat is 13 bushels, grading 1 to 3; barley, 20 bushels; oats, generally poor.

GOOD APPLE CROP IN B.C.

British Columbia—Apples are now being shipped and the yield should be quite 85 per cent. of average. Quality is very good, the fruit being particularly free from blemish. Grain crops are being harvested and good yields being obtained in the Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island. In the interior grain crops are only fifty per cent. of average. Hop picking will commence this week. Potatoes are yielding 100 per cent. of average. Tomatoes are late, and may be a little below average. Pears are 90 per cent. of average. Plums, prunes and apricots 75 per cent.

CRESOTED FENCE-POSTS

Experiments are being conducted at the Indian Head nursery station of the Department of the Interior to determine the life of fence-posts treated with preservatives by the use of equipment such as could be used on the average farm. In 1916 several posts of Russian poplar (a very perishable species) were especially treated with cresote and were set in the ground in the spring of 1917. Ten years afterwards these posts were apparently as good as ever, on the other hand, untreated posts of the same species of similar size rotted out in the second and third years.

SOME MUSICIAN

Clarence Cox Jr. of Memphis, Tenn., is only sixteen months old, but he's an accomplished young man. Not only can Clarence whistle, but he can play a French harp, too, and he's shown here doing it.

EXTEND QUARANTINED AREA

In continuing its efforts towards the control and eradication of the corn borer in Canada, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has extended the quarantined area to include the whole of the province of Quebec, and all of Ontario with the exception of the districts of Thunder Bay, Patricia, Kenora and Rainy River.

VARIATION OF COMPASS

In crossing Canada the direction of the compass needle varies all the way from forty-two degrees west of north in Hudson Strait, through thirty degrees west in Nova Scotia, to thirty degrees east of north in southern British Columbia and forty-five degrees east in the Yukon. There are even localities in some of the northern islands where it points due south.

SAANICH BACKS HOSPITAL VIEW

Flying Field Should Not Be
At Lansdowne Airdrome,
Council Agrees

The Saanich Council is heartily in sympathy with the directorate of the Royal Jubilee Hospital in their opposition to continued use of the Lansdowne Road airdrome.

At last night's meeting of the council a resolution of sympathy was adopted, together with decision to uphold the view of the hospital authorities that another location should be obtained for a flying field.

SERIOUS DISTURBANCE

The hospital submitted a statement showing that planes generally take off from the Lansdowne Road field in a southerly direction, passing over the Jubilee Hospital at low elevation to the great discomfort of patients. "Extension of the traffic would create an impossible condition for hospital work," the directors wrote.

Foreseeing great development in aerial traffic, the hospital stated: "There does not seem to be any necessity why it should be established in a manner tending to destroy public property involving an investment of $1,000,000.

Thirty lots in one block, adjoining the Wilkeson Road Mental Home, were sold for $3,000 last night by the Saanich Council. Part of the tract is rocky and part is low-lying, and although the price accepted was a slight reduction on the list quotation, councillors were pleased at consummation of the sale.

Saanich Gets $3,000 For Lots

The Young People's Society of the United Church held a special meeting at the church parlor on Monday evening. The social, literary, missionary and citizenship committees arranged programmes for the coming winter. The social committee will be in charge of Labor Day, when the annual picnic will be held at Alex. MacDonald's beach. Mr. and Mrs. T. Dixon have as guests Mrs. Dixon's brother, Peter Nell, and Arthur Wrigley, both of England. Miss Nellie Syman has returned home from camping on Salt Spring Island.

Glen Lake

Visitors at Glen Lake auto camp last week-end included Mrs. N. F. Foster of Victoria and Miss McConnell of Vancouver.

Mrs. J. G. Crosby also spent the week-end at the auto camp. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell and children have returned to their home at Kamloops, after spending the summer months with Mr. Campbell's father, J. M. Campbell, "Argyle."

Miss Muriel Harrison has been visiting Mrs. Jack Trace for a few days.

End of the Stagecoach Nearly Lost Boy His Job

When George Root was thirteen he could play as many musical instruments as he was years old. He lived in a little New England village, and his great dream was to go to Boston to become a real musician.

He saved his money until he was able to go to Boston for a visit, and there he found a position, working for a music teacher. He returned home to prepare to move to the city.

On the day on which he was to report for work, he packed his trunk and the family helped him to carry it down to the side of the road along which the stagecoach to Boston traveled.

He waited and waited, but the coach did not appear at the usual time. He became greatly worried. Then a neighbor drove along in a wagon, saw his trunk, and asked him if he was waiting for the coach. The boy explained that he was.

"Why that coach was stopped yesterday," said the neighbor. "It was taken off because there's a new railroad which runs only six miles from here."

George was in despair, but the neighbor kindly offered to drive him, with his trunk, to the train. As it happened, they arrived just at train-time, and the boy had his first train ride.

George F. Root, born August 30, 1820, was a song writer, composing "Just Before the Battle, Mother," "The Battle Cry of Freedom," and other famous songs of long ago.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly's Funny Boats

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

"Where are you going, Daddicums?" asked Jingle, one of Uncle Wiggly's little rabbit girls, one day as she saw him hopping down the garden path.

"Oh," answered Mr. Longears, "I am going to look for an adventure."

"Do any of your adventures ever have peanuts in them?" asked Jingle.

"Peanuts? In my adventures? Why, no! How funny!" laughed Uncle Wiggly, twinkling his pink nose like a lightning bug chasing a mosquito off the grass.

"I think it would be real jolly if, sometime on your adventure trips, you would find some peanuts and bring them home," said Jingle.

"So do I," added Jangle, her sister, and for once the two little rabbit girls thought alike about something. Only too often Jingle and Jangle were like their names, never agreeing. But this time they thought the same.

"I'd love some peanuts!" sighed Jingle.

"So would I!" said Jangle.

8-30
He cracked two peanuts and ate them.

"Well, I'll see what happens," was all Uncle Wiggly would promise. For often when he hopped in the woods for an adventure, the adventure turned into one where he had to run very fast to get away from the Fox, the Wolf or the Bob Cat and he had no time to stop and get some peanuts off the roasting wagon kept by the Monkey Doodle gentleman.

So leaving Jingle and Jangle playing around the hollow stump bungalow, and wishing for peanuts, Uncle Wiggly hopped on and on over the fields and through the woods. But not an adventure could he find.

Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggly heard a queer, whistling sound and he stopped short. He said to himself: "Maybe that is the Bob Cat coming and the noise is the wind whistling around his silly little tail. I had best be careful!"

As the whistling sound came nearer Uncle Wiggly saw that it wasn't the Bob Cat, but the peanut wagon of the Monkey Doodle gentleman, and the whistle was the steam whistle of the thing that keeps peanuts hot. The Monkey Doodle was singing:

"All hot! All hot! Buy your peanuts on the spot!"

"I think I shall buy some peanuts for Jingle and Jangle," said Uncle Wiggly. "Those little rabbits of mine have been good girls. I'll take them some hot peanuts." So he bought two bags from the Monkey Doodle gentleman and put them in his pocket to take home to his bungalow.

But as Uncle Wiggly hopped along he kept feeling of the hot peanuts in his pocket, and he kept smelling how good they smelled and then he began to think how good they must taste and at last he could stand it no longer.

So he said:

"I'm going to eat some of Jingle's and Jangle's hot peanuts. I will take one out of each bag and there will still be plenty left in the bags. So he cracked two peanuts and ate them and they tasted so good that, before he knew it, his paw went in his

To-morrow's Horoscope

SATURDAY, AUGUST 31, 1929

Benefic aspects rule strongly to-day, according to astrology, which reads in the horoscope fair promise for all who seek amusement.

It should be a most auspicious rule for those who entertain friends, for the stars seem to promise harmony and lightheartedness among guests.

Women are subject to the most kindly way of the stars which are believed to make it possible for them to charm all whose good will they desire.

Good luck should attend all who become engaged under this direction of the stars and the day should be fortunate for weddings.

Theaters share in the pleasant influences of the stars and should profit to-night. Better pictures and better plays are forecast for the coming season.

Letters should bring good news to-day, for the rule is read as inspiring encouragement to the written word.

This is an auspicious rule for signing leases and other legal papers. Contracts made to-day should be profitable to all concerned.

Again the stars prophesy intense interest in advertising and all branches of publicity. This is a favorable rule for any published announcement.

Honors for an editor are prognosticated. The press is to be much favored by government contracts according to astrology.

Those who read the stars prophesy the manufacture of arms and hasty preparation for conflict in Europe.

Chemistry will be widely discussed and from London comes the prognostication of an astrologer who foresees a remarkable discovery that will cause a world sensation. Either France or Germany will contribute this new knowledge.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year that is more devoted to amusement than to financial advancement. For the young courtship is foreshadowed.

Children born on this day have the forecast of vastly different experiences through life. For some fame and distinction will come easily, while to others hard work will assure fortune.

Emperor Yoshihito of Japan was born on this day, 1879. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Gaius C. Drew, American statesman, 1824; William Thompson, humorist, 1918.

pocket again. But he thought in time and said:

"No," it would not be right for me to eat any more of their peanuts. I won't take another one for myself unless I come to a brook!"

Then, lo and behold, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggly came to a brook, and then of course he had a right to eat more peanuts, which he did. He tossed the shells into the water where they floated away until, all of a sudden, some little ant boys and girls, crawling on the ground, said:

"Those little peanut shells would make lovely little boats for us to sail down the brook. Don't throw the shells away, Uncle Wiggly. Let us have them to play with. We can sail the peanut boats."

"Too bad!" said Uncle Wiggly. "But I'm not going to crack any more peanuts to eat, so there will be no more shells. These peanuts are for Jingle and Jangle. I shouldn't, really, have eaten any."

"Oh, please go on and eat some more!" begged the ant boys and girls who didn't care for peanuts themselves. "Then we can have the shells for play boats."

Well, Uncle Wiggly couldn't help being kind. So he ate on the edge of the brook and ate every hot peanut in the two bags, giving the empty shells to the ants who got in and drove peddled and sailed down stream. The shells made lovely toy boats. Then, when Uncle Wiggly saw that he had eaten all the peanuts, he said:

"Alas! What will Jingle and Jangle do?"

"Buy them more!" cried the ants. So Uncle Wiggly went back to the Monkey Doodle's whistling wagon and bought two more bags of peanuts. He didn't eat any of them on his way home, so Jingle and Jangle were made very happy. And the bunny had a nice adventure.

So now, if the letter Q will lend the puppy dog its tail, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's queer buttons.

NEEDLE CHANGES DIRECTION

At Churchill on Hudson Bay, the magnetic compass needle pointed twenty-four degrees west of north in 1700, one degree west in 1800 and ten degrees east in 1900. In other words, during two centuries the needle changed its direction by thirty-four degrees.

SCOUT JAMBOREE GREAT SUCCESS, SAYS DAN BEARD

Veteran Chief Returns From International Gathering
In England

New York, Aug. 30.—The Berengaria brought Daniel C. Beard and Howard Gillette, chiefs of the Boy Scouts and the Sea Scouts, respectively. They attended the International Jamboree in England and were greatly pleased at the showing. Fifty thousand boys, representing forty-two countries, attended the camp.

In all cases except for the delegation from France, which had official Government support, the boys either paid their own passages or were sent by local community groups. In the case of the flag ship crew of Sea Scouts who traveled from Chicago, Mr. Gillette reported that each boy had his expenses met by a wealthy Chicagoan. As a model to tourists, the entire expenses from Chicago to Europe and back were from July 18 to August 28, amounted to $340.

"The boys from the many countries," said Dan Beard, the twenty-eight-year-old Chief Scout Commissioner, "do not look alike or act alike, but they are all actuated by the same scouting motives. The boys are fine. They came up to all of my expectations, and that is saying a great deal."

SEA SCOUTS WIN

With Mr. Gillette, who is a banker in Chicago, returning was his flag ship crew of Sea Scouts, led by Louis Giff, who won first honors for sea scouting at the Jamboree. The boys themselves expressed a little amazement at the lack of foreign competition, puzzled temporarily when the Hungarian Sea Scouts offered woodland dancing as one of their qualifications.

"It all looked funny to me," said one of the scouts, "to see them gyrating round like tops. What we went for was to compete in cutting racing and sailing and there was little of it."

Ernest Messier Was Executed at Montreal To-day

Montreal, Aug. 30.—Ernest Messier, a truck driver, was hanged here this morning for the murder on September 29, 1928, of his former sweetheart, Rose Anna Paquin, nee Paquette.

Arthur Ellis was the executioner. Messier, who during his last days in prison had expressed contrition for his crime and was ready for death, went to his end calmly. Behind a priest saying the prayers for the dying, he walked from his cell.

Rose Anna Paquin and Messier were lovers for five years. A week after the shooting, when he was arrested, Messier declared in a sworn confession that the woman had left him for no apparent reason. He believed she had gone away with another man, and finding her in a rooming house, he fired at the woman, the bullet piercing her heart.

RULES FIXED FOR MOVIE APPEALS

Attorney-General Announces
Regulations Governing Appeal Board

Rules governing appeals from the rulings of the moving picture board of censors were announced yesterday by Attorney-General H. Pooley. Passed by order-in-council, these rules provide that upon the filing of notice of such an appeal and the deposit of a prescribed fee, the censor shall notify each member of the board of appeal, which, in the Province, consists of W. J. Baird, Robert McKee and Mrs. A. C. Bagley, in Vancouver.

The film or slide which is the subject of the appeal shall be inspected and the appeal shall be heard by the Appeal Board at the Government demonstration office or at some place in the city of Vancouver provided by the appellant and approved by the Appeal Board. All costs incidental to such inspection at other than the Government demonstration office shall be borne by the appellant.

The censor shall facilitate the hearing of the appeal and shall act as clerk of the Appeal Board in arranging with the appellant for the hearing and inspection at a time and place approved by the Appeal Board.

TWO MAY ACT
In the absence, for any cause, of one member of the Appeal Board the two members present may act and may together decide the appeal; but if the two members do not agree in a decision the appellant shall be entitled to have the appeal reheard forthwith by the three members of the Appeal Board without further notice of appeal or further deposit of appeal fee on the part of the appellant.

Upon the conclusion of the appeal the censor shall distribute the amount of the appeal fee deposited by the appellant among the members of the Appeal Board who acted on the hearing of the appeal in equal shares.

IT IS STYLISH TO BE BRONZED, TOO!

Pretty Barbara Newberry has been cast in several Broadway shows, but this is the first time she has been cast in bronze. Here you see the comely chorine, selected by Florenz Ziegfeld as the owner of "America's Most Beautiful Legs," beside the unfinished bronze as it came from the foundry, still bristling with the nails that are necessary to hold the mold. Mahonri Young, grandson of Brigham Young, famed Mormon, was the sculptor.

THREE PERFORMANCES BY PAGE PLAYERS AT COLISEUM TO-MORROW

The Mildred Page Players will give three performances at the Coliseum Theatre to-morrow, appearing once during the afternoon and twice in the evening. The matinee screen performance will commence at 2 o'clock and the players will have the stage about 3 o'clock, while during the evening they will appear at 7:30 o'clock and again about 10 o'clock. The title of this week's play is "Gossips," a three-act comedy by Robert J. Sherman. It is a highly entertaining farce and also has its more serious turns, the plot being interesting and gripping and the cast excellently chosen.

Miss Page, in her first role since returning to Victoria, has the part of a modern young daughter of an old-fashioned minister. Her manners and expressions thoroughly shock the old man who considers that his daughter is traveling the downward path. But she is an open-hearted girl with high morals and a keen brain. In the end she marries a young clergyman, much to her father's surprise and pleasure.

The other members of the cast who also give good performances are Miss Ruth Albright, Miss Crystal Lee, Phil Kieffer, Arthur Siegert, J. Barrie Norton, Paul Bardley and Horace Lintz.

THRILLING MOMENTS FILL "GUN RUNNER," PLAYHOUSE FILM

Faced with the choice of capturing single-handed, dead or alive, a revolutionary leader who has proven too wily for the police and the secret service, or with spending your next twenty years in prison, what would you do?

Accept the choice which seems likely to provide some excitement and offers a gambling chance of freedom? Or pin your hopes on a pardon for the jail sentence?

That is the choice given Julio, the hero of "The Gun Runner," showing to-day at the Playhouse Theatre. This is the Tiffany-Stahl picture suggested by Arthur Stringer's absorbing story of love and adventure.

MOUNTIES' HONOR FORMS THEME OF COLUMBIA FILM

One hears from various sources, fictional and otherwise, that the red-coated trooper of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police always "gets his man" when he is sent on the trail of the evil-doer. And the records of the service show that there is more truth than fiction in that boast of the "mounties."

How he does it, has formed the basis for many fascinating tales, one of the most popular and absorbing of which is "The Yellow-Back" by James Oliver Curwood. Filmed by FBO with such noted players as Tom Moore, Tom Santschi and Irma Harrison in the leading roles, it is being presented at the Columbia Theatre.

"DESERT SONG" IS GLORIOUS OPERETTA SHOWN ON SCREEN

It is singularly fitting that "The Desert Song," the screen's first operetta, should be produced by Warner Brothers, whose introduction and development of the Vitaphone is solely responsible for the advent of the speaking photoplay.

EIX-YEAR-OLD GIRL PLAYS IMPORTANT ROLE AT CAPITOL

Jane LaVerne, who has an important role in "Melody Lane," the Universal all-dialogue and music picture, now playing at the Capitol Theatre, is six years old. She was born in Redlands, Cal., and is the daughter of a Universal tinsmith. She first appeared in Reginald Denny's "That's My Daddy." Since then she has been in several other Universal pictures including "Modern Love" with Charley Chase. She made her big hit as the child "Magnolia" and "Kim" in "Show Boat." She lives in Hollywood with her parents and is so busy in pictures that her schooling is done at the Universal studio schoolroom.
